In Brief

Dog tag reminder

Romulus dog owners are reminded by Treasurer Beverly McAnally that Feb. 14, 21 and 28 are days they can purchase license tags and have their pets inoculated at a nominal cost at the old fire hall on Goddard Road, east of Wayne Road. The city has set the three days from 1:30 to 3 p.m. to allow residents to beat the March 1, 1981 deadline for both shots and tags, she said. After March 1, dog owners will face penalties. Senior citizens will pay only half price for licenses.

In protest

Police seeking slaying witness

The frozen nude body of a black 25-year-old Detroit woman was found about 11:30 a.m. Sunday by a Westland youth who was rabbit hunting while visiting his grandmother in Romulus.

Det. Timothy Glaab of the Wayne County Sheriff's Dept. reported that the body has been tentatively identified Monday, but that her name was being held pending notification of next of kin.

The boy found the woman's body behind an earthen berm on the north side of Henry Ruff Road, between Wayne and Ecorse roads, said the detective.

Glaab said a gold necklace was still around the woman's neck and a ring was on the ring finger of her right hand. Although her body bore some marks, police could not determine if they had been there for some time before or if she had been sexually assaulted because of the body's frozen condition.

The detective said an autopsy would be conducted when the woman's body thawed out. He speculated that death was probably due to strangulation. Police said anyone who had any information about the slaying should contact the sheriff's department.

Planned fireworks law sparks lawsuit threat

A newly-drafted fireworks ordinance close to adoption by Romulus City Council was blasted by a local vendor who said it would put him out of business.

Clinton Robinson told council recently that the new ordinance, which bans sale of all fireworks, is in conflict with state law and in his opinion is unconstitutional.

He claimed he had been licensed for many years to sell fireworks and that he would, in effect, be out of business when the new ordinance is adopted.

Robinson told council two weeks ago that if the new ordinance is approved he would sue the city because in his opinion it is illegal.

Since last June, Robinson and other fireworks vendors have been unable to obtain city licenses because council at that time placed a moratorium on their issue.

The vendor also said that in discussions on the matter with Charles Lowther, city attorney, that he had told Robinson he did not like the fireworks ordinance. He said the measure had been prepared by Fire Chief John Wilhide and the Romulus Police, Fire and Safety Commission.

According to Robinson, Lowther told him council had turned down consideration of a fireworks ordinance that he (Lowther) had prepared.

Some members of council expressed surprise that Lowther did not support the fireworks ordinance, which thus far had been given first reading, and told Robinson that they would check with the city attorney on his statements.

After the ordinance is given second reading, it would become effective upon publication in the local newspaper.

'Unfair competition'

Local cab drivers argue ordinance hurts business

Complaints by a local taxicab company about out-of-town competitors being licensed in the city has prompted the Romulus City Council to take a second look at the city's taxicab ordinance.

Following remarks by James Alexander, owner of Superior Taxicab Co., one of two local companies licensed by Romulus, council referred the matter to Charles Lowther, city attorney, for his review and recommendation.

Alexander, in a recent appearance before city council, objected to Taxi-Town of Wayne and Deluxe Cab of Taylor being licensed to do business in Romulus.

He told council that his company and Victory Cab, the other local firm licensed to operate in Romulus, are not permitted licenses in those two communities. He said Romulus should follow the same policy.

Alexander explained that Superior and Victory have enough taxicabs to service the city of Romulus. Under the city's taxicab ordinance, council issues a specific number of licenses after determining how many taxicabs are needed to service local traffic.

Under the ordinance, city council has the final word on the number of taxicabs needed to operate in the city, said Clerk Leonard J. Folmar.

Currently, Superior and Victory, as resident companies, and Taxi-Town and Deluxe are the only firms licensed to operate in Romulus, he explained.

Alexander also told council that most communities do not license taxicab companies from outside their own community, especially when local firms have enough vehicles to take care of local service.

Folmar, who has been clerk since Romulus changed from a village to a city in 1970, said he could not remember the matter ever coming up before council.

He surmised that the city previously has enough taxicabs to handle local business, but that Victory, although headquartered in Romulus, concentrated primarily on doing business at Detroit Metro Airport.

To make up for the lack of vehicles available for local traffic, Folmar said the city began licensing out-of-town taxicab companies.

The clerk said he did not believe the current taxicab ordinance would have to be changed, since city council is the sole body which determines how many taxicabs are needed for city business.

Folmar admitted, however, that under the current taxicab ordinance, council conceivably could license out-of-town companies and exclude local firms.

Cable TV committee seeks consultant

The newly-appointed Romulus Cable Television Ordinance Committee is busy interviewing applicants in its search for a consultant whose expertise will aid the city to formulate an ordinance to control and regulate the new entertainment medium.

Chairman of the new group, Treasurer Beverly McAnally, said the first applicant to be interviewed was John Rickles, a Detroit attorney, who helped Grosse Pointe Cable, Inc. install cable TV in that community.

In the days ahead, several more interviews are being scheduled, including those with Carl Pilnick, president of Telecommunication Management, San Francisco, Calif.; and David Korte, National Cable TV,

Washington, D.C., she said.

Proving helpful to the city has been the office of Sen. Kerry Kammer of Pontiac, said the treasurer. His office has provided Romulus with a list of prospective consultants in the cable TV field and copies of model ordinances used in other communities, said McAnally.

She said the committee soon will be asking city council to invite proposals from companies for installation of cable TV in the city.

McAnally said the committee favors the approach of first formulating the ordinance, which will include a 15-year contract and franchise and then selecting the company which will construct the cable TV system.

Citizens rally behind Sheriff Lucas

They'll fight county

A busload of about 50 senior citizens and residents from Romulus, Van Buren and Huron townships journeyed to downtown Detroit Thursday afternoon to lend support to Sheriff William Lucas in his battle with the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Although not allowed to speak, they made their presence felt at the special hearing at which Lucas to answer questions from members of the county Board of Commissioners.

The bus left Romulus Towers about 12:30 p.m., several hours after a breakfast meeting at the Hilton Inn attended by Lucas and elected officials of Romulus, Van Buren Township and other surrounding communities serviced by the sheriff's department.

When Lucas pointed out the lack of support for his stand from the out-county areas he was policing, it was decided to send a bus filled with area supporters to his hearing that afternoon.

On the bus were 32 persons from Romulus, six from Van Buren and five from Huron Township.

The sheriff was subpoenaed by the county Board of Commissioners because he refused to lay off most of the 267 deputies which make up his patrol and investigation unit. Some 25-28 members of the P & I unit of Commissioners to eliminate his P & I unit after funds were lopped off the (Continued on Page A-3)

What to do with trash - a multi-million dollar question

That never-ending problem of trash is under study by this group from throughout Wayne County, which meets at the City County Building to discuss the issue. They are the 17 members of the Wayne County Waste Management Planning Committee chosen to recommend on development of five and 20-year plans for disposal of solid wastes. Their plan to service all 43 communities in the county must be prepared within 18 months and approved by the County Board of Commissioners and the State Department of Natural Resources. The chairman of the group, County Commissioner Clarence R. Young, from Ecorse, said public hearings and committee meetings will be held in a number of communities before final recommendations are adopted. Van Buren is represented in the above committee by township supervisor Patricia Cullin, (seated, second from left, clockwise).

Romulus social worker to give workshop

Judith Friday, a social worker in the Romulus Department of Social Services, will present a workshop titled "Working with Step Parents and Blended Families" at the 1981 Parent Educators' Conference Feb. 19-20 sponsored by Eastern Michigan University.

The conference, sponsored by the EMU Institute for the Study of Children and Families and Division of Continuing Education will feature 30 workshops on child development and behavior. It will be held at the Lansing Hilton.

Workshops will address ways to get parents involved in programs, specific techniques to use in parent education, skills for working with specific types of parents, specific techniques in child management, ways to work with children with special needs, and community resources that can be used to support parent education.

A sampling of the workshop titles includes "Children of Alcoholics: How They Survive, How We Can Help,"

"Working Parents: Effects on Children," "Helping Parents Use Children's Literature to Help Their Children at Home and at School," and "Working with Step Parents and Blended Families." Workshop presenters will include parents and professionals in education, social work, nursing, home economics, and child development.

The keynote address for the conference will be delivered by James Eddy of the Mott Children's Health Center. He will speak on "Management of Children," concentrating on practical ways in which parents can work more effectively with their children and how parent educators can help parents improve their skills and increase their understanding of children.

Another feature of the conference will be a resource room that includes a multi-media center where participants can preview movies and film strips, a browsing library and a book display where materials can be purchased. There will also be an area for program displays and handouts. For more information on the 1981 Parent Educators' Conference, con-

Views On Dental Health

By SHERMAN H. KANE, D.D.S.

DENTAL IMPLANTS

Dental implantology [inserting a post into the jawbone to act as an anchor for dentures] goes back to the times of the early Egyptians. Mummies and skeletons have been examined, and they indicate that dental implants were attempted even in those days.

A dental implant is a device that supports a single crown, a bridge, or a full denture, when the gums cannot normally retain them. There are two types: One has a metal framework that rests on the jawbone, with the gum tissue closed over it; the other is placed into the bone, like a root of a tooth. Both types have a post or series of posts which protrude through the gum to serve as an anchor.

While implant dentistry is quite complex—and still considered experimental and practiced only by a relatively few experts—it does provide a new approach to denture problems.

Varying degrees of success are reported, but it appears that the percentage of successful cases is directly related to the amount of training and experience of the implantologist.

Belleville clerk completes MSU course

Agnes Frisch, clerk of the City of Belleville, recently completed a three-year university-level program designed to improve the service of the clerk's office to the community.

Frisch was one of 22 Michigan municipal clerks completing the Michigan Municipal Clerks Institute at Michigan State University.

Michigan Secretary of State Richard Austin presented graduation certificates in MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education at the conclusion of the week-long institute.

The clerks' study—one week a year for three years at MSU—has dealt with elections administration, interpersonal relations, public administration, the role and responsibility of local government, the changing community, and the technical work of the clerk's office.

Completion of the three-year institute fulfills the educational requirement for the Certified Municipal Clerk Award of the International Institute of Municipal Clerks.

The Michigan Municipal Clerks Institute, taught by University faculty and state officials, was sponsored by the Institute for Community Development of MSU's Lifelong Education Programs and the Municipal Clerks Association of Michigan.

The program was developed by the Institute for Community Development, in cooperation with the Michigan Departments of Treasury and State.

Citizens rally around Lucas

county budget for their services.
The unit also provides police protection to unincorporated areas of western Wayne County, including Van Buren and Sumpter townships, in addition to contractual services to Plymouth and Brownstown townships.
Last week in Wayne County Circuit Court, Judge Victor Baum, issued a confusing ruling that both the county board and sheriff interpreted as favoring their stand.
In his ruling, Baum said deputies could provide contractual police services to Romulus until May 19, and the county board chairman, Samuel Turner, indicated funds would be found to pay for the salaries of 25-28 deputies.

Lucas said the judge's ruling did not order him to disband the P & I unit and told his deputies to continue coming to work. The county board, on the other hand, said there were no funds to pay the bulk of his unit aside from those assigned to the city of Romulus.

At Thursday's meeting with the county board, the sheriff refused to back down. After two police unions offered concessions that would save the county $1.7 million, the county board agreed to a "compromise" that would allow all of the P & I unit deputies to stay on the job until May 19.

In the meantime, Lucas is pursuing a suit against the county board over the $8.3 million cut in its budget that cut out his unit. Outcome of that suit could determine the future status of the P & I unit.

In the meantime, Mayor Oakley came out with a resolution tossing his and the administration's support behind Lucas's efforts.

The resolution reads:
"Whereas the citizens of the City of Romulus having enjoyed highly professional law enforcement from the Sheriff of Wayne.

"And, whereas the City of Romulus is desirous of continuing the highly professional service from the Sheriff and County of Wayne and, whereas the Board of Commissioners have given the city until May 19, 1981 to provide its own police protection instead of continuing the service of the sheriff.

"And, whereas Sheriff William Lucas has courageously stood by the citizens of Romulus, he deserves our utmost thanks and continued support in his efforts to secure a contract for law enforcement services to the citizens.

"Therefore, be it resolved that the Mayor and Commissioner Edgar Harris importune the Board of Commissioners to forthwith pass a continuing contract in order that the sheriff can provide full law enforcement services on and after May 19, 1981."

'Man of the hour'

With his mother at his side, Douglas S. Baum (above) breaks into a smile as he learns that he was chosen as the recipient of Romulus' "Business Person of the Year" award. Below, a plaque signifying the honor is presented to Baum, who owns Baum's

Despite tentative agreement

Status of P & I unit is moot

Despite tentative agreement last week maintaining the Patrol and Investigation Division of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, permanent status of the unit remains a dispute between the County Board of Commissioners and Sheriff William Lucas and seems headed eventually for more court confrontation.
Ordering cost reductions last

November, the Board of Commissioners instructed elimination of the patrol unit effective Jan. 31, but Lucas countermanded some 250 layoff notices issued and himself ordered all deputies to continue reporting for work as usual.
The commissioners had hoped to relieve the county of more than $17,000 daily cost for the patrol and investigative functions.

Lucas was called before the Board under subpoena on Feb. 5 to explain his actions, although also at the meeting the Board approved a plan submitted by union officials sacrificing wage concessions to fund the patrol unit intact through May 19.

Established by Circuit Court Judge Victor J. Baum, that is the soonest date for termination of a contract for police services from the patrol unit furnished to the City of Romulus.

Baum chose that date after Romulus, Brownstown Township and Locals 502 and 1917 sued to prevent elimination of the unit. Local 502, National Union of Police Officers (NUPO) represents the deputy sheriffs, and 1917, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) represents supervisory officers.

The disputed lines of authority became apparent from Baum's "eleventh-hour" decision on Jan. 31, ruling that the Board of Commissioners is empowered to dismiss the patrol division, but also that the Sheriff is responsible for providing minimal police protection in townships and must honor the Romulus contract through May 19. Lucas contends that the entire existing patrol and investigation force is necessary to fulfill his obligations to Romulus and the townships.

Evaluating a complicated legal decision, both the Board of Commissioners and Sheriff Lucas interpret Baum's decision in their favor.

The issue likely faces another court test unless resolved by negotiation prior to May 19. Reportedly, Lucas said he is not obligated by the tentative agreement between union officers and the Board of Commissioners, and is still determined against efforts to eliminate the unit.

Still to be ratified by union membership, the tentative agreement which would enable the unit to continue as-is through May 19 was proposed to the Board by officers of Locals 502 and 1917 and approved by the Board 21-2. Calculated to save $1.7 million, the package includes:

- A $1 per hour maximum in cost-of-living increases in 1981
- No cost-of-living based on overtime payments
- All overtime not to exceed time-and-a-half pay rate

Despite the outcome of the patrol and investigation dispute, the Board is considering measures which would require Sheriff Lucas to post a $250,000 bond to insure his "performance of duty."

A resolution to that effect was proposed by Commissioner James J. Rashid and referred to the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee with instructions for a recommendation for the next Board meeting on Feb. 19.

Baum is picked as Romulus' Businessman of the Year

Douglas S. Baum is a man for all seasons. His activities and accomplishments range from helping little league baseball, boy scouts to chairing such key posts as the Romulus Building Authority and the Romulus Business District Association.

He also operates and owns the Baum Funeral Home in Romulus.

Last week, members of the Chamber of Commerce singled Baum out as Romulus "Business Person of the Year."

"I'm very pleased and honored for this recognition," Baum said. "However, you and I know that there are many, many people in this community who have contributed much to our community and our city and also deserve this consideration."

Baum and his family were honored at a banquet sponsored by the Romulus Chamber of Commerce.

Baum, who will be 44 years old on Feb. 25, has contributed much to the renaissance of Romulus. He was the charter president of the first Chamber of Commerce in Romulus (1970), and also was a member of the Romulus-Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce. He participated at an advisory level in the construction of the 34th District Court Building and also chaired the Parent-Advisory Council in 1977 to promote better understanding between the Romulus Board of Education and the citizens of Romulus.

Baum also has been active in local baseball and sports. He formed a summer baseball program for 16-18 year olds, in the Connie Mack Summer League and started and chaired the first Romulus Athletic Club street dance in conjunction with the Downtown Sidewalk Days of Romulus.

A past president of the Romulus Rotary Club, Baum has served as chairman of the March of Dimes, Charter Member of the Association for Progress of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, the Romulus Historical Society and other charitable organizations.

A longtime member of the Charter Finance Director for Court Woodhaven, of the Independent Order of Foresters, he is also a member of the Michigan Funeral Directors and National Funeral Directors' Association.

Married to Janice, the Baums have seven children.

In April of 1966, Baum became a partner in the Lane Funeral Home in Garden City and in early 1977 the business was sold to a large funeral home chain and Baum began remodeling and in December of 1967 he opened his first funeral home in Romulus.

He has been featured on the controversial Lou Gordon TV program to discuss "Death and Funeral Practices" in the area and the United States.

"Despite all of the negativism one hears," Baum says, "there is so much one can accomplish in a lifetime. Life is too precious to waste."

Council wants limit on foster care homes

Romulus City Council has taken action to seek a state moratorium of license approval of adult foster care homes, which soon could number six in the city.

In letters sent to Gov. William Milliken, Sen. William Faust, Sen. Edward Mahalak and Sen. Gary Owen, council further requested the moratorium be in effect until "....a plan for equal distribution, throughout the state, on a per capita basis is formulated".

Also, council asked that welfare of the foster care patients themselves be protected by state assurance that the homes meet minimum state standards prior to license approval.

Council has received several complaints charging an excessive number of AFC home applications, some of which are being recommended for license approval despite not meeting state requirements.

Romulus has recently received two applications for AFC homes, one at 1005 Miriam and a second at 29799 Ecorse Rd. A sixth application is pending.

In the resolution adopted two weeks ago, council cited the following inadequacies: 1) undersized bedrooms; 2) inadequate parking; 3) inadequate bathroom facilities; 4) inadequate or ill-set furnace; 5) Ecorse Road location is on one of the most heavily-traveled roads in the city, being near two major expressways, truck terminals and Detroit Metro Airport.

Anti P.A. 114 forces gaining strength

As of last week, more than 1,000 signatures of Romulus residents had been received by the city on petitions protesting the impending jump in real property taxes, said Treasurer Beverly McAnally. More names are coming in daily, she said.

Action by local residents is representative of a growing movement throughout the entire state after new equalization factors were given to cities and townships by county taxation agencies.

For the first time, under Public Act 114, separate equalization factors were prepared for each class of property, with residential property bearing the brunt of increases that will boost taxes for homeowners by 20 to 50 percent in some areas.

The factors theoretically bring local assessments up to the one-half of current market value as stipulated by state law.

"In Romulus," McAnally explained, "petitions are being circulated everywhere — churches, bowling alleys, business establishments and any place that people congregate."

Indicative of how Romulus residents feel was the turnout of some 150 citizens at a public information session on the ramifications of PA 114 held last week at Romulus High School, she pointed out.

Sponsored by the Romulus Democratic Club with the help of Robert Plank, club president; McAnally; and Councilman Ed Rush, the meeting explained to local taxpayers what they could do to protect the new tax increases.

Although several area legislators failed to turn up to speak on the tax issue because they attended a similar turnout in Westland, McAnally said the session in Romulus was "extremely successful".

"People asked intelligent questions and we attempted to give them intelligent answers," said the treasurer. "The entire tax procedure was explained and just about everyone present took home at least one petition to circulate. Some took as many as 10 to 20."

Following the trend in many other areas over the last few years, citizens are now demanding "accountability" and "decent money management" from their elected officials "all the way to the top", she said.

The treasurer termed citizen reaction to news of the substantial real property tax hikes as a "revolution" with many indicating they wanted to take control back in their own hands.

"People must let Lansing know why they don't like the tax increases, that they don't like how things are going, and that they feel betrayed," she said.

McAnally said it is apparent to her that the era of big spending has come to an end in this country and that on the immediate horizon is looming the importance of each individual citizen.

"When the average citizen gets angry and gets together with his neighbors, Lansing had better sit up and listen," warned the treasurer. "Their whole effort is aimed at Lansing."

Although she said some would criticize her for possibly stepping out of the bounds of her primary job — collecting taxes and investing city funds — McAnally commented, "It is also my job to protect our city's residents. If I can make their burdens less, then I will do it."

They're beautiful

Schools may seek additional state aid

Dr. Bedell says Headlee provision could be utilized

Romulus Supt. of Schools William Bedell has moved to have the local school board file a claim under the new Headlee Amendment that could bring in additional revenue for the 1979-80 school year to the local school district.

Dr. Bedell was scheduled to make his request Monday night which would have board lawyers file a claim with the Local Government Claims Review Board.

The superintendent, who anticipated approval of his request by the school board, said the school district's law firm also suggested a suit in the Michigan Court of Appeals "to safeguard the district's rights under the law".

Currently, Fitzgerald Public Schools in Warren and Waterford Public Schools, are suing to contest the state's viewpoint that elementary and secondary education do not fall within the protection of Article 9, Section 29, of the state constitution.

According to Section 29, part of the Headlee Amendment, "The state is hereby prohibited from reducing the state financed proportion of the necessary costs of any existing activity of service required of units of local government by state law."

Thomas H. Schwarze, of Keller,

Thoma, Schwartze & Schwarze, Detroit, in his letter to Dr. Bedell, indicated the courts will have to determine whether elementary and secondary education are "an activity or service required of units of local government by state law".

He pointed out that if the state of Michigan is required to maintain the 37.5 percent funding proportion of 1978-79 for school years after that year, the state would have to pay local school districts in Michigan an additional $105,800,000 for the 1979-80 school year.

Schwarze's letter stated that several statutory and regulatory provisions support the argument that elementary and secondary education are required of local school districts under state law.

His letter, said Dr. Bedell, also revealed that while the state's unrestricted aid to local school districts is declining, the burden on local taxpayers is becoming heavier.

In 1978-79, state unrestricted aid was $1,131,349,000 compared to $1,108,914,000 in 1979-80, while the share paid by local taxpayers went from $1,886,216,000 in 1978-79 to $2,131,007,000 in 1979-80, Schwarze wrote in his letter.

Schwarze said his letter was prompted by the one-year limitation imposed by the state for filing taxpayer lawsuits.

"The question of when the limitation period begins and whether this limitation period would apply to local school districts bringing suit for additional state payments under Section 29 are unresolved," his letter explained.

To safeguard its claims, he urged the Romulus school district to file a claim with the Local Government Claims Review Board for additional state aid reimbursement.

Also, Schwarze suggested, "The members of the school board, as taxpayers, might also file suit in either the Court of Appeals or the Circuit Court in order to safeguard the district's rights."

Further, Schwarze explained that the suits filed by Warren and Waterford are not class action suits and would result in favorable decisions only for those two districts. He stated that should both districts win their suit, the courts' decision "will not require the state of Michigan to make additional payments to other local school districts."

Dr. Bedell said Schwarze believes the Warren and Waterford cases will decide the issue of whether elementary

SPEEDWAGON DOES IT AGAIN.

To a generation raised on rock, the spirit of stereo is a band called REO Speedwagon. After a decade on the road, on the radio, on TV and on the turntable, after the years of platinum and gold, this classic band has busted out with its biggest hit ever. It should come as no surprise. Hi Infidelity is in the great tradition of REO Speedwagon. A well-earned name in the best game there is.

Ford seeks 'young people to honor'

Young people usually come under attack for things they do. But, most young adults are constructive and live interesting lives. And Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th) is seeking a few outstanding youths to honor them with his annual "Medal of Merit."

However, the deadline is drawing near for filing application for that medal.

Two awards will be available in each of the 21 communities in the 15th District. One will be for young people 14 to 18 years of age, or still in high school; the other for high school graduates, 18 to 20 years of age.

The accomplishments on which the selection will be based must be outstanding and meaningful. They will not be based primarily on scholarship, athletic ability or organizational membership, nor should they be something for which the nominee has received financial payment.

A significant contribution by the nominee to his school, church or community could be a reason for nomination.

Young people who have put time and effort toward worthwhile projects such as volunteer services, heroic acts, and humanitarian efforts will be considered for the Medal of Merit.

The medals will be presented by Congressman Ford at a special ceremony in mid-May.

Deadline for nominations is March 16.

Nominating forms may be obtained at City and Township Clerks' offices in the 15th District; from Committee members, or from Congressman Ford's office in the Wayne Post Office building.

The Chairpersons this year are Douglas Ritter, of Canton Township, and Brian "Mike" Hendin, of Southgate.

Other members of the Committee are:

About your social security

Q: Last year I worked for two employers and earned over $20,000 from each. Since each employer withheld social security tax on the full amount of my salary, I paid well over the maximum tax for the year. Can I get a refund?

A: Yes, you can get a refund or you can have the excess social security tax you paid credited toward your Federal income tax for the year. You make this claim when you file your Federal income tax return. The refund will not be made automatically.

Q: I do not receive any social security checks because I have not worked long enough under social security to get monthly payments. I recently decided to return to work. Should I notify social security?

A: If you do not receive any monthly benefits, it is not necessary to notify social security. If you are working under social security, however, you will want to keep count of the credits you earn — you may eventually earn enough credit to qualify for monthly social security payments.

It's Voc. Ed. Week

At Belleville High

Students observe Vocational Ed. Week

"Know How—Vocational Education Serves the Nation."

That's the theme for this year's observance of Vocational Education Week which began on Feb. 8 and will continue until Feb. 14. And Belleville High students are making the most of the seven days to publicize and familiarize themselves and the public about this vital program.

At the national level during the past 10 years, vocational education enrollments have increased by 300 percent.

At the local level, Belleville High School has been involved with this kind of training for several years, according to Janet Linn of Belleville.

The vocational program offerings have expanded from an initial beginning of two courses and has now developed into large-scale offerings of approximately 20 different classes.

Students at Belleville High School are able to complete training in retailing, office occupations, welding, machine shop, auto mechanics, auto body, building trades, and several other areas that will prepare them for work after graduation from high school.

Many students use their high school training as a basis for further education in trade schools, junior colleges and other vocational schools throughout the state.

A new dimension to the vocational training offered to students at Belleville is the formation of the Western Wayne Area Vocational Consortium. This consortium arrangement pools the vocational programs in both Romulus and Belleville and widens the range of offerings.

As of September, 1980, Belleville students attend classes in Romulus for Drafting Occupations, Food Services, and Health Occupations, which Romulus students come to Belleville to further their training in Auto Body Repair and Machine Technology.

Belleville students and faculty feel that vocational education is a key to the future success of this country.

They have extended an invitation to interested members of the community who are invited to tour the vocational education facilities at the high school, 501 West Columbia or the Vocational Center 414 Sumpter Road between the hours of 8 a.m. and 2 p.m. during Vocational Education Week.

EMU promotes Belleville people

Several appointments, promotions and retirements involving Belleville residents employed at Eastern Michigan University were announced recently by the school's administration.

New staff appointments included that of Jean Flori as supervisor in McKenny Union. Ms. Flori is a Belleville resident. Also, Joyce Hallett, was named to a secretarial position; Theresa Hassett, clerk/typist in the Admissions Office and Barbara Ionetz, secretary II in the Center of Education Resources.

Retiring from the university service were Leona Barry, assistant professor in the Center of Education Resources and Raymond LaBounty, professor in the Department of Industrial Education.

Belleville's Connie Gowen was promoted from secretary II to senior secretary in the Graduate School.

Sumpter to host health series

Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center will sponsor a series of programs in its Community Resource Center to provide health information to the Belleville-Sumpter Community beginning this month.

The first program will be held at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 18. It will be the first in a series of heart-saver courses. These courses will be given every three months and must be pre-registered if certification is desired.

These heart-saver courses are approved by the Michigan Heart Association. They will be taught by John M. Battle, M.D., a certified instructor-trainer.

Faculty and Residents of the program will assist in mannequin training.

Participants who complete this three-hour course will be certified as heart-savers. They can then provide a valuable resource to the community since they will be able to provide life-saving assistance until more specialized treatment can be initiated.

All members of the community over 14 years of age may participate. It is expected that approximately twenty individuals (the first registered) can become certified. However, others may attend the movie and lecture and may subsequently receive mannequin training.

Other programs are being developed of medical interest to the community, including one by the Oakwood Hospital Pharmacy Department. It will focus on "Over The Counter Drugs."

If interested in registering for the heart-saver course, contact the Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center, 19130 Sumpter Road, phone no. 699-2094.

HOW TO CUT YOUR DRIVING BY 15 MILES A WEEK

President Carter has asked us all to drive 15 miles less every week. And if you're like most drivers, you can save 15 miles—and probably a lot more—just by changing your driving habits and planning ahead. Here are five easy ways to save 15 miles:

- Set aside one day a week as your "car-free" day.
- Join a work pool, school pool or shopping pool.
- Trim your driving by two miles a day.
- Think before you drive. Combine trips and be sure each trip is necessary.
- Ride with someone who's already on the road—the bus driver.

WHEN IS IT PROPER TO DISPOSE OF THE DECEASED'S PERSONAL ITEMS?

Wait until you feel comfortable re-living the memories which these personal items will evoke. We suggest you ask a trusted friend or relative to help you begin this task and to make the decisions.

A basic question to consider: Have any of these personal items been covered in the will? If so, then naturally the disposition on these is clear and should be handled first.

Some items may be considered of "heritage" value and you may want to entrust them to certain members of the family for safekeeping.

Other items, such as personal clothing and equipment, may give years of service to others. Clothing, walkers, wheel chairs, etc. can often be used by health-care facilities. Tools, musical instruments and specialized items may be used by service-giving organizations such as the Salvation Army or Good Will. Or finally, there may be relatives or friends to whom you think the deceased would have wanted you to give certain items.

Call us. We may be able to offer some suggestions.

Mrs. Gault returns home from S.C.

By Mrs. Joseph Spring
699-4021

Mrs. Winifred Gault of Roland St. returned home on Monday, Feb. 2, after having spent the past six weeks with her daughter and husband, Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Bowick (Marjorie) at Easley, S.C. She reports a busy six weeks with rather cold weather for that part of the nation.

After having spent sometime with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs.

Robert Pawlowski, in Milan, Mrs. Russell (Laura) Buck is now convalescing at her home on East Huron River Dr.

Memorial Services for Mrs. Spencer (Theora) Wilkie were held at the First Methodist Church on Sunday, Feb. 1, at 2:30 in the afternoon. Mrs. Wilkie passed away suddenly at her home Thursday, Jan. 29, at 71 years of age.

Mr. Burt Tillison of Adrian was a guest last Wednesday of his sister-in-law and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clayton of Bedell St.

After having been a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor for the past 10 days following hip surgery, Mrs. Muriel Bearance was able to leave the hospital on Saturday, Jan. 31, and is now at her home on Liberty St.

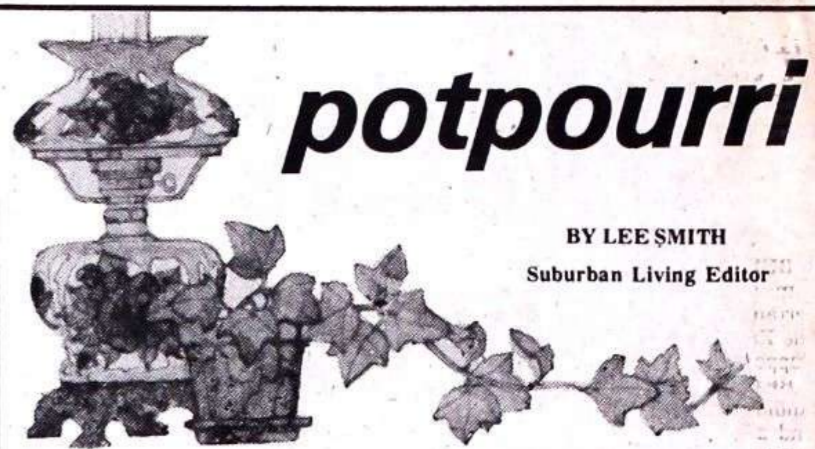

Nicole and Jamie Buck, children of Dr. and Mrs. James Buck of Toronto, Ontario, have been guests this past week of their paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Buck, of East Huron River Dr., while their parents attended a convention in Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Harold Klaiss of River Rouge was an overnight guest, last Monday, of her friend, Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty St.

On Saturday, Jan. 31, Muriel Smith of Liberty St., and Natalie Coykendall, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Akans of Royal Oak in celebration of the second birthday of their son, Chad, who is Mrs. Smith's great grandson.

Attending a Grand Reception and dinner of Order of Rainbow for Girls International held at the Masonic Temple in Kalamazoo on Saturday, Jan. 31, were Roberta Welt, Grand Worthy Advisor; Cheryl Viers, Grand Representative to Germany; Ronda Claxton, Faith; Joelle Manzer, Religion; Tammie Francis, Confidential Observer; Denise Welt and Rose Ann Welt, State Officials.

potpourri

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

By the time this sees ink, BG and I will have been and (hopefully) returned safely from a week's golf sojourn at Green Valley, Ariz. just south of Mesa. We will have chalked up our first trip to the desert area and you can be sure you'll be hearing more about it in an upcoming "potpourri".

In the meantime, since Sue McDonald and Kay DeBord (my Wayne counterparts) are putting my pages together in my absence, I thought it only fair to write a few lines and help them fill up space.

Kay, incidentally, is just back after a bout with phlebitis which hospitalized her over the Christmas holidays — such unfortunate timing! We are happy to have her back but are urging her not to overdo and aggravate the darn clot again. Having filled in for her for several weeks, it seems strange not to be writing, editing and proofing those Wayne area Suburban Living sections.

As I've mentioned before, doing things in the middle of the week — avoiding those hectic weekends — is always twice the fun and much more exciting than bucking the crowds on Fridays and Saturdays.

With time to use or lose, BG decided on a Tuesday off and LHS (yours truly) voted for a goof-off rather than work day. And I didn't even have to twist his arm when I suggested we motor on over to Kalamazoo to see daughter-number-three.

Despite an utterly gloomy day, we were blessed with good driving conditions (Thanks, God!) and managed the trip without the chancey weather that'd been forecast.

We'd alerted Carol to our plans and she immediately became suspicious; why were we coming on a TUESDAY, what was our REAL motive, what was wrong? (She tends to question anything that might not be the norm.) On our arrival she was still very dubious that we weren't going to spring some kind of bad news on her and it wasn't 'til our departure that she seemed to relax and believe our motives were completely selfish and trouble-free; that we just wanted a diversion — a day to do as we pleased!

The whole gist of this story is that we told her to decide on a place for lunch and, having been completely taken by her choice, "Carlos Murphy's", a few miles from the WMU campus, I have to expound a bit on a place you might want to try if ever you're in that area.

With Carol's bubbly roommate, Carrie, along for the outing (our WMU freshman niece, Nancy, had classes and couldn't join us) we watched the fat snowflakes fall as we studied a rather unique bill of fare.

Unfortunately, both BG and I were trying to slim-it so we could indulge on our vacation, so we opted for a couple salads and, good grief!, one would have fed the four of us! Never too proud to request a "people bag", we let Carol take the remainder of my Salad Supreme (chicken, fresh pineapple, avocado, tomato, black olives, lettuce — all mounded in a giant-sized tortilla shell) home for her dinner.

On the girls' recommendation, we started off with CM's Irish potato skins — the absolute BEST we've ever had — crisp, yet tender with a blend of Cheddar and Monterey Jack cheese, melted HOT, topped with bacon bits and scallions. DevINE!

Two different quiches took care of our partners' appetites and were way too much for weight conscious females — huge wedges with sides of Spanish rice and fresh pineapple quarters.

With the Irish-Mexican Cafe (it's subtitle) so uniquely fresh and clever in its decor, it WAS surprising the food was so well prepared and served. So often the two do not go hand-in-hand. Spacious French windows, brass appointments EVERYwhere, pleasant printed table coverings with individual round straw mats, potpourri of old art and signs were but a few of the many touches which make Carlos Murphy's a bit unique.

The combination of Mexican-Irish in itself was a fresh approach to "something different" in this day when hardly anything ever IS anymore.

BITS OF TRIVIA . . .

Daylight savings time went into effect in the United States for the first time on March 31, 1918, almost 63 years ago.

The motto "In God We Trust" first appeared on the 1864 2-cent piece. And that's some 117 years back!

Basketball is the only major sport which is completely American in origin. The first Labor Day in America was celebrated on Dec. 28, 1869.

The first President to use a telephone was James Garfield who had one installed in 1878 while he was a member of Congress.

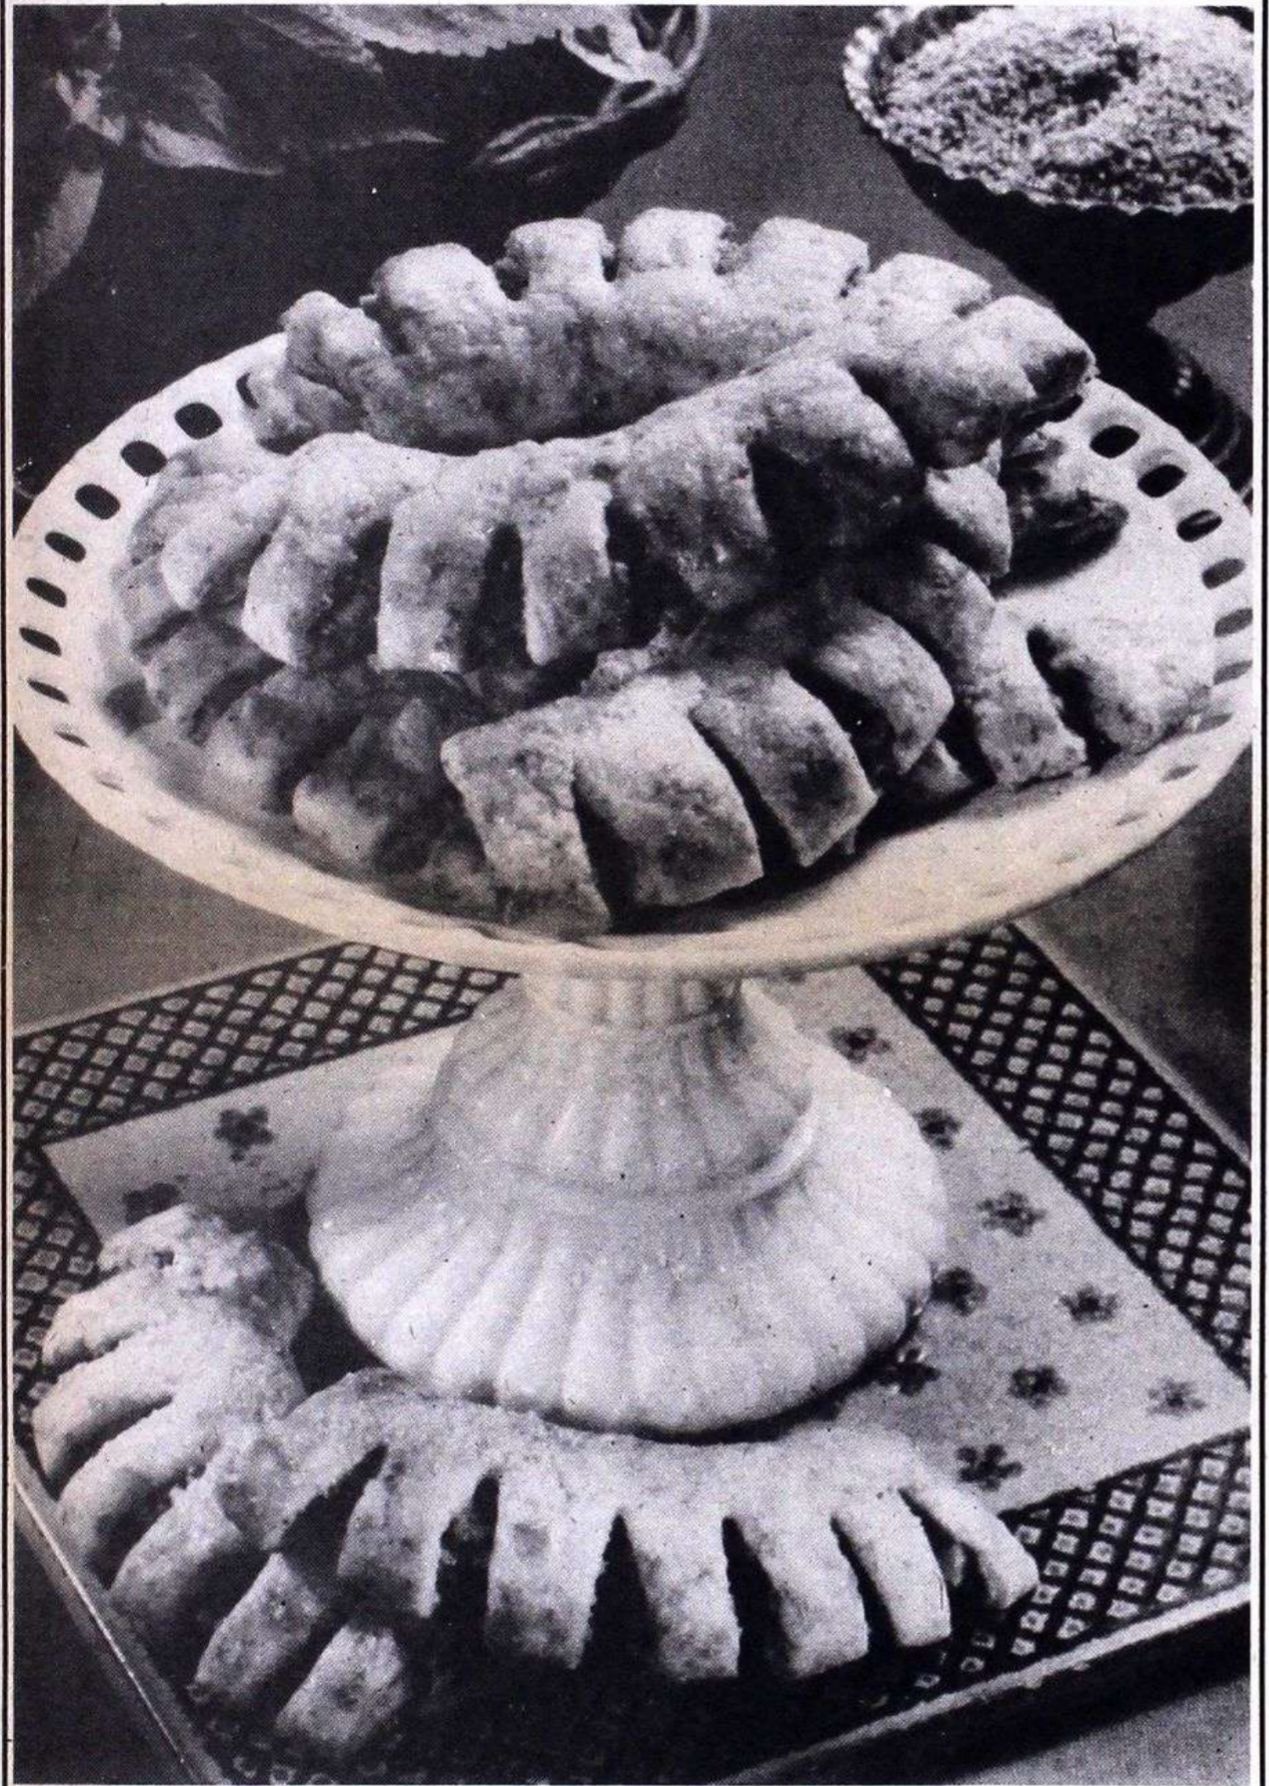

Some say the nursery rhyme "Mary Had a Little Lamb" was based on the true story of a girl named Mary E. Sawyer who had a pet lamb that followed her to the schoolhouse at Redstone Hill, Massachusetts in 1817.

Serve 'em Bear Claws

Homemade wheat germ bear claws are a wonderful treat for breakfast or snacktime. The recipe for this remarkable pastry, developed in the Kretschmer Consumer Service Center, guides you clearly and efficiently through the rolling and shaping routines necessary to make this fine bakeshop specialty. The zest of fresh lemon gives the yeast dough a perky accent. Also in it are innovative additions of pie crust mix, dairy sour cream and egg along with vacuum packed wheat germ. Preparation time is nominal as no rising time is needed for the dough either before or after shaping it. Allow a half hour rest period however for the oven bear claws to relax before baking.

The dough handles easily, making your handiwork simple and uncomplicated even if you have never attempted this kind of pastry before. A fair amount of rolling, folding and turning is necessary in working with the wheat germ dough to produce tender, flaky layers in the finished bear claws. The accurate directions given here are precise and leave no guesswork in the following steps.

Incidentally either regular wheat germ or the brown sugar & honey variety is acceptable for both the dough and the filling. The wholesome filling is a fragrant blend of wheat germ, almonds, cinnamon and butter with just enough sugar to give it a moderate level of sweetness. The final step in shaping the bear claws is to enclose the filling in a dough square and make short slits along one side to reveal the good tasting filling.

This Kretschmer wheat germ recipe makes 16 bear claws. A big advantage is they freeze beautifully and may be reheated in a microwave or conventional oven.

WHEAT GERM BEAR CLAWS
1 package active dry yeast
1 1/2 cup warm water (105 degrees to 115 degrees)
1 egg

3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
1 to 1 1/4 cups flour
3/4 cup vacuum packed wheat germ, regular or brown sugar & honey
1 (11-ounce) package pie crust mix
Spicy Wheat Germ Filling
1 egg mixed with 1 tablespoon water
Wheat germ for sprinkling

Combine yeast and water in large bowl. Stir until yeast dissolves. Mix in egg, sugar, lemon peel, sour cream and 1 cup flour. Stir in wheat germ and pie crust mix. (If using pastry sticks, crumble before adding.) Turn out onto lightly floured surface. Knead 30 times or until dough is smooth, adding more flour if needed. Roll dough to 18x15-inch rectangle.

Fold dough in thirds to make 15x6-inch rectangle. Fold in thirds again to make 6x5-inch rectangle. Cut into quarters. Roll each quarter on lightly floured surface to 10-inch square. Cut into quarters.

Place a rounded tablespoon of Spicy Wheat Germ Filling along center of each square. Fold one side halfway over filling. Fold other side over to enclose filling. Press edges together to seal. Place seams side down on greased baking sheets. Cut 1-inch slits along one long side at 3/4-inch intervals. Curve to separate sections. Brush with egg and water mixture. Sprinkle with additional wheat germ. Let stand uncovered in warm, draft-free place 30 minutes. Bake in 350 degrees oven 15 to 18 minutes until golden brown. Serve warm. Makes 16 rolls.

SPICY WHEAT GERM FILLING: Combine 1/2 cup vacuum packed wheat germ, regular or brown sugar & honey, 1/2 cup chopped almonds, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup melted butter and 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon.

Just in Passing

Back to work: Pleasure of it all

By KAY DeBORD

After a couple of months of enforced incarceration at home with an ailing leg — it's nice to be back at my messy desk at the newspaper and to know that once again I can handle my job "in person" instead of from my home at the other end of the telephone from my co-workers.

In case you wonder at my pleasure in having a "messy" desk — it's the way I work best — and I prefer it to a messy dining room table (my working quarters at home). It's not often that I lose anything in the clutter — but when I do — it's lost "forever."

Of course, in the other category, there's stuff that is titled "misaid." That stuff generally shows up sooner or later, but never when you're actually looking for it.

It's the same way at home. Just as soon as I carefully put something away for safekeeping, that's what I can't find when I need it.

My Number Two Daughter has given up on me. Maybe because of my failure to be organized, she's reacting by being organized to within an inch of her life.

I have drawers full of miscellaneous clippings, SHE has a filing system. SHE never has to hunt for the papers for income tax, they're carefully organized, just where they should be, and she can find warranties for things at a moment's notice.

Even her closets can be opened for critical inspection without her having to blush for their condition.

Her kitchen is organized, her dresser drawers are organized — and yet she isn't as miserable to be around as one would think.

In fact, I kind of admire her because she doesn't take after her mother in spite of my providing an example.

I get things organized periodically, but they get disorganized the first time I am in a hurry to find something!

For instance, my dresser drawers are organized to the point of having related items in them — such as belts and scarves (?) and myskivvies are all together — sort of — the ones that have inexplicably become too small are packed in a suitcase in the far reaches of the storage closet, but I won't discard because they just might fit again some day.

The same goes for a couple of silk blouses that I am partial to and refuse to pass on to someone who would fit into them.

Number One Daughter is sort of in-between her sister and mother — she works like a beaver to be organized, but somehow fate and a couple of sons sometimes defeat her good intentions. But, she's organized on the job and that's a point in her favor. One of many, I might add!

My husband is organized at work — and to some extent — at home, except sometimes with his tools (and MINE!), but I can't say much because I have been known to fail to put things (such as the garage key) back where they belong.

It's going to be interesting to watch my grandchildren develop and to see whether they are going to be "organized" — "disorganized" — or somewhere in the area of happy medium.

And while I'm waiting, I guess I'll just muddle along at my messy desk, with my messy dresser drawers hovering at the back of my consciousness.

My secret satisfaction is knowing my KITCHEN drawers are nice, tidy and organized — and I can't understand it!

In defense of Lucas

The on-going controversy between the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and Sheriff William Lucas has many residents of western Wayne County worried that they possibly may be left at the mercy of criminals.

Budget cuts made recently by the county Board of Commissioners lopped off funds for the sheriff's patrol and investigation unit (P & I). The unit provides police protection under contract to Romulus, Plymouth and Brownstown township and on a limited basis to unincorporated areas of western Wayne County.

Lucas has fought to keep his P & I unit by going to court. A recent judge's ruling will keep the unit on salary until May 19. At that time, Romulus, and possibly Plymouth and Brownstown townships, will have to take steps to form their own police departments.

The sheriff also is fighting in another suit to keep the county board from cutting $8.3 million from its budget that will permanently eliminate jobs for 267 of his deputies and deprive him of his constitutional duties to provide police protection to out-county areas.

From the information that has been released thus far to the news media, we believe that Lucas does have a responsibility to protect out-county citizens and their property and support him in his stand against the county board.

Surely, in their collective wisdom, the county board can come up with a better plan that both will save sorely-needed funds and still provide some sort of adequate police protection to out-county residents.

Those citizens in the far-flung regions of the county are just as important as those in the inner city and its immediate environs. They, too, are taxpayers and are entitled to every-benefit of their counterparts downtown.

It is no secret that the county board is Detroit dominated and that its interests are often slanted to that area. It appears that a real battle is shaping up, a political one, between the sheriff and his enemies.

But, for the citizens of out-county areas to be caught in the middle smacks of a lack of consideration by elected officials sworn to uphold the best interests of ALL of their constituents.

In this regard, we believe it behooves the county board to delay further action until it can devise a better plan to provide police protection for ALL.

Don't volunteer if you can't serve

Local government is at the crossroads for a variety of reasons.

Finding the money to provide services, holding down budgets in the face of inflation and shrinking revenues, electing competent officials, coming up with the money to pay fulltime township, city and county officials and manning the many required local boards and commissions are all tough jobs.

These required responsibilities must be met if local government is to survive.

Manning those local boards and commissions with interested and qualified people should be the easiest part of local government but all too often it is the toughest.

Appointing citizens to serve on various boards is the smallest part of the problem. Local government bogs down when qualified people accept appointments and then don't show up to get the job done.

Every township and city board and commission is finding it hard to get their jobs done because members who have accepted appointments fail to show up for meetings.

Accepting a job on the township zoning board carries with it the assumption that the appointee will attend meetings and functions as an active member of that board.

It's just not working that way.

Township boards and city councils should immediately step in and remove appointees who do not show up. Too frequently this action is not taken.

House Call

They've seen the writing on the pack...

By MAURICE B. REIZEN, M.D.
Department of Public Health

Some people spend about $300 a year to tone down their health. Not many of them are in the best of condition to start with, but they spend good money to become breathless with exercise, restless in theatres, and annoyed by the "Thank You for Not Smoking" signs. They are the habitual smokers.

They're brave in a self-destructive way because, disregarding their cigarette coughs and rapid heart beats, they voluntarily enroll in a high risk program that makes them candidates for cancers, and heart and respiratory problems. What's more, they risk losing first prize in the Smell Like a Rose Contest.

Many habitual smokers drop out of the nicotine world for a few agonizing months and then go back to the pack. Some actually make the leap from smoker to non-smoker, and stay that way, free from the bother of smoking.

One fact unites all smokers though. Consciously or subconsciously, they know that the surgeon general's warning on each pack of cigarettes states a truth. Cigarettes are dangerous to your health. Despite that, most of the older smokers continue to puff. They know the facts, see the warnings, but not even segregation in public places has any effect. Since nothing seems to change their habit, perhaps we should concentrate on children instead.

Many schools have health education programs for children, teaching them all the ill effects of smoking. If any of the old smokers want to be influenced along with the children, good luck and long life to them.

The important thing is that if we can't change the old, we can protect the young. Cigarettes no longer are fashionable and daring. They're a nuisance, expensive, and harmful. If you're smart, you'll reject the idea of smoking cigarettes. Your reward will be $300 to spend for something besides a roomful of smoke. You'll have become a member of the healthy majority, and you won't tone down your health.

'Equalization by class' is inequitable, unfair

The State's new "equalization by class" law will mean drastically increased taxes for many thousands of Michigan homeowners, particularly those in the suburbs.

We opposed the bill when it passed the Legislature in 1979, and we are attempting to at least temporarily nullify it.

They point out that the impact of the law will be felt this year, with sharp increases for homeowners in many areas.

The law requires that property be assessed by type: residential, commercial, industrial, agricultural and timber cut-over. The purpose is to see that all classes of property are assessed at 50 per cent of true cash value, state equalized valuation.

The actual result of this will mean that assessments against many industrial and commercial properties will be lowered, at the expense of homeowners, who will have to pay more. It will be an additional tax burden that homeowners can ill afford.

For example, in Dearborn, which has relied upon taxes paid by Ford Motor Company, the new law will mean a 49.7 percent increase in assessments on private homes. This pattern will be felt throughout most of the suburbs, the Representatives warned.

This taxation by class is inequitable and unfair. We opposed it and will continue to oppose it. We have a depressed economy, a sharply rising cost of living and widespread unemployment. What homeowners desperately need is tax relief, not a stifling additional tax burden.

Unless something is done by February 15, local assessors will automatically put the new equalization by class system on their tax rolls.

Meanwhile, we are actively supporting bills, introduced in both the House and Senate which would delay implementation of equalization by class until the 1984 tax year.

This would give the Legislature time to work out something that makes more sense, they said.

We urge popular support for the House Bill (4044) which would place a moratorium on the equalization by class system.

Sister Anne

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

Her name is Sister Anne. Although her face is deeply lined with wrinkles and blackened by what she says is "the mountain sun" there is something captivating about this stony-faced person.

Her life is in jeopardy every day she helps the poor — and there are many poor in that land called Peru.

Sister Anne is a religious missionary who has attempted to put meaning into the life of the Peruvians and the penitentiary where she has been assigned.

Poverty and extreme passions seem to go hand-in-hand in South America, and what is a petite woman raised in Wayne County doing in the turmoil of revolution and wars? Has she not heard that the revolutionaries kill, even women of the cloth?

"I am there to serve God. To serve the people," she softly says.

And what would a communist do if they ever got hold of her?

"Strange that you should ask that," Sister Anne replies. "Like most Americans, you know little about South America. It isn't the Communists that we fear — but it is the right extremist groups who believe in the 'status quo', who would injure, yes, even kill anyone who would lower themselves to help the poor."

"No, it isn't the Communists that we fear for they would share what they have with the poor. Someday people like you in the Press and people in the government will understand that capitalism has not worked in South America."

Sister Anne stares and her next volley of words cuts like a sharp rapier.

"The beginnings of the church were more socialistic, more people awareness, more sharing than today's philosophy of 'me, myself and I'. The earth is for all and the earth was given to all people and not to be hogged by one people."

"And sir, you can't be a Christian and close your eyes to the rest of the world."

Sister Anne pauses, then asks another question. "Have you ever heard of Penny Lernoux?" I shake my head. In her book, "Cry of the People," she relates just what the United States has accomplished in South America, like helping the rise of Fascism, the torture and the persecution of the Catholic Church in Latin America."

But we helped build factories, created jobs and exported industry and technology to those people, I reply.

"How true. How true," she sourly answers. "And we pushed their local businesses out of business. Little by little the farmers had to leave their lands because the 'big interest groups' came with their armies. And the military and the little people became poorer — and the rich ..."

Got richer.

And do the people accept you, Sister Anne?

"The poor accept us. We are not there to represent America's industrial giants — we're there to serve our Lord. Peru is a Catholic country and there is a good relationship now between the church and the state."

"And the church has begun to speak out against the brutality and tortures of the ruling class — and, even though some of our people have been taken in (by the police) and interrogated and some have never been heard from again, we will continue to speak up for the rights of the people."

"Will you write us and let us know how you're doing?"

"I will if you promise to tell the story that I have told you. Not to lie, like most of your reporters."

"I promise."

Public officials and pay raises

EDITOR — Is 'Enough Is Enough' by Representative Andres Jacobs (D, Ind.) too late. As described in the Intelligence report section of Parade's Sunday Magazine for January 11, 1981, the congressman is proposing a bill that will limit the amounts of monies that a former President gets, and curtails the massive amounts that they get for expenses, plus many other needless items that are charged to the taxpayers.

Well, as with all good news there has to be some bad, along comes USN&WR January 19, 1981 issue with an article on page 8 indicating that our Georgia Peach of a President and the California Flash, President Reagan, will propose increases in the wages of all high-ranking bureaucrats, and at a level that defies the reason of even a reasonable man.

When this soft-spoken, southern drawl, good-ole-country-boy has forbidden the rest of private industry from giving more than 7 or 8 percent raises to their employees or officials over the past four years, and backed it up with the threat of cutting off government contracts to the companies that violated this request (mandate), Carter wants, for himself, as he leaves the White House, and others, a 17 percent raise with indication that really what is needed is a 40 percent increase but that the 17 percent would have to do for now due to concern over inflation.

Well, glory be! I think that it is about time for some people to speak up and make some changes in the way that these lawmakers can at their own choice approve themselves raises and increases in expense accounts and additional staffs and other surdries.

I think that it is about time for the public to have something to say over the rates of pay of government personnel, after all, what if everyone in the country could vote in their own wage increase at will.

Maybe it is time for someone to remind these people that at any time in life they may step down, after all, they did not go to Washington to get rich.

Family vs. City budgets

EDITOR — Recently, I read in your newspaper that the City of Westland has its budget woes. The city has a 1.9 Million deficit. The taxpayers of Westland also have their budget woes.

Now, the difference between the families living in the City of Westland and elsewhere, is that they live within their budgets.

On the other hand, Mayor Thomas Taylor and the City Council have yet to learn the basic economics lesson, and that is simply, that you cannot spend more money than you take in.

Mayor Taylor is proposing a 1.5 mill tax increase to the taxpayers of Westland to take place Feb. 24th. Whatever happened to the promise "as long as I am a Mayor, there will be no tax increase". Now, the Mayor wants the taxpayers to bail out the city for his and the council's blunders.

Just before the Christmas holidays, some of the city employees received a substantial pay raise. Even the members on the different commissions got a raise.

So did the City Attorney, to name a few. Now, you stated in the local paper, that another pay increase will be given in the month of July.

Mr. Mayor, how can you give out pay raises when there is no money in the "till"?

Another statement made was that there is a possibility that the city may be assessing for street lighting along major roads, something the city has never done.

Homeowners in residential areas pay for their streetlighting, while businesses along major roads "get a free ride", the Mayor said.

This was a big surprise to me. Evidently all these years the residential customers were subsidizing business places.

The 2-mill increase was soundly defeated last November. Although the Mayor said, he will employ different tactics this time around, I believe the results will be the same as in November.

Who needs higher taxes?

Joyous at hostage return

EDITOR — The nightmare of the past 14 months will engrave itself into the history and the hearts of the American people for generations to come.

The captivity of our 52 Americans has ended but the story I believe, is only beginning to unfold.

Certainly this is a joyous occasion, and all of us can agree I believe, that it is also a time to give thanks to God for prayers heard and answered.

In retrospect to those beginning weeks and months of the American Embassy takeover in Tehran, the memory of our emotions will never be erased, nor forgotten. The feelings of shock, fear, anxiety and confusion brought this nation to a sudden halt, and maybe even to her knees in the eyes of the world.

The sudden state of helplessness that swept the country off her feet however, triggered a staggered chain of events that eventually led to negotiations, tragedy and a sudden upheaval of unity among the American people.

The yellow ribbon became a symbol of that unity and hope the country began to embrace ... many forms of expression flooded the country, but the yellow ribbon remained and endured. It was also a symbol of love and compassion as well as a daily reminder to all of us that our Americans and their families continued their vigil of hope and faith in believing for a peaceful and prayerful solution to this crisis.

When our hostages touch American soil, I will retire the yellow ribbon from the lapel of my coat. I will place it in my Bible to mark the 30th Psalm that speaks of a thanksgiving for the deliverance from death.

The 5th verse somehow says and captures the emotion we must all feel at this point in time and history: "For his anger endureth but a moment; in his favor is life: weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning."

"Americans Free" — this is the way it MUST ALWAYS BE!

(Please note also — the price of freedom is high, and many have paid it with their lives both in death and human suffering. I hope we never forget any American, past or present, for all they did and gave to preserve the freedom and the peace of these United States.)

Detro stories are biased

EDITOR — At the January 27th meeting of the Romulus City Council, your newspaper came under attack for "biased" reporting. The accusers were members of the council.

We believe that although in general your newspaper does an excellent job, it is onesided, however, when it comes to stories about the Detro Recovery Products.

In past issues, it was reported that the "citizens' interest has dwindled because a large crowd was not present at a particular council meeting.

The City Clerk has 1700 signatures on file in his office stating these citizens do not want Detro in Romulus; must this be reaffirmed at each council meeting?

Another issue stated, "Some city officials want Detro in this community." Which officials? Please name them, a lot of people need to know.

Also in last week's issue, $700,000 is in bold print, a few months ago it was a million, when has it been settled that any amount is legal to give the city per truck load?

Jim Murphy keeps referring to the site on Ecorse Road, as the site by the railroad tracks.

Please specify it is also bounded on the south by prime residential property and a multi-million dollar school complex.

It seems that Detro could find a less populated area to settle, other than in back of City Hall, or the larger residential area and in a school yard.

Romulus has been the brunt of every type of unpleasant odor long enough: French Landing, the burning dump and now, the worst of all, the threat of Detro.

If the money Detro is promising, is factual, why is no other community trying to woo Detro to their area?

Send thanks to Carter

EDITOR — Many people around the world have given thanks to God for the release of the American hostages.

Now, we American citizens and other nations around the world have an opportunity to say thanks to our former President Jimmy Carter and others who were the driving forces for their release.

I am preparing a signature scroll to be given to the former President. Persons wishing to say "thanks" should:

1. On 8 1/2 x 11" typewriting paper sign your name, city and state.
2. Circulate their paper with family and friends for more signatures.
3. Mail paper with signatures to: Free at Last, 45251 Wear Rd., Belleville, MI 48111 Churches, schools, workshops, everyone can say "thanks".

Hospital exec explains problems

EDITOR — I appreciate this opportunity to explain to your readers and residents of our community the background for some of the difficulties they may have encountered recently with our Emergency Room at Oakwood Hospital.

Since early January, we have had an average of twenty-five more admissions per day than in prior years. This high number of admissions, together with increased Emergency Room visits, has been due to an increasing number of patients seeking emergency care, especially the elderly, who ultimately require hospitalization. Oakwood always has a high occupancy level but this higher volume has stretched the capacity of our 595-bed hospital.

In some cases, because of the high number of emergency admissions, it has been necessary to keep admitted patients in the Emergency Room holding area for a day or more. Although we recognize this arrangement is not ideal, we are nevertheless able to provide these patients with the necessary observation, care and service they require.

Further, it has been necessary to refer a few patients who can be safely transported to other less-full hospitals. When our Emergency Room is filled to capacity and patients may not obtain a regular bed for more than a day, we feel that patients should have the opportunity to go to another hospital that can provide the amenities not available in our emergency holding area.

The recent stress on emergency room capacity occurs periodically at other area hospital facilities as well as Oakwood. We communicate regularly with area hospitals and have reciprocal agreements to assist each other as the demand for hospitalization changes.

I regret the inconvenience to our patients and community as a result of this high demand for emergency care. We have added additional staff and are making every effort to insure the experience for our patients is as pleasant as possible while continuing to provide quality care. We expect the demand for beds to lessen from the current peak period but historically the stress on beds will continue through March.

The interest and consideration of the members of our community who have been affected by these less-than-ideal conditions at Oakwood are most appreciated.

Thank you.
GERALD D. FITZGERALD,
President, Oakwood Hospital

Permits required for improvements

EDITOR — Many residents of the City of Westland are unaware of the ordinance requiring a building permit when adding to their homes.

The Westland Zoning Board of Appeals is finding an increasing of citizens coming before them because of not realizing a permit was needed.

Permits are needed for most any home improvements, adding a porch, building room additions, installing a fence, etc. Most home improvements must also meet City Ordinance No. 129 regarding size, area, height, etc.

We have had residents come before us that have already started work on their homes only to find out that for some reason they are in violation of a city ordinance.

Citing one case in particular, the resident was building too close to the lot line. If the resident can not provide the Board with a practical difficulty or a hardship, the Board can and has required the resident to take down the work already started.

The Ordinance No. 129 is very complex and involves not only residential but also businesses in our city. I would advise all residents to check with the building department before doing any home improvements to see if a permit is needed and if there are any restrictions.

In an effort to inform the resident of the City of Westland, the Zoning Board of Appeals hopes to have continued articles regarding current as well as future changes in Ordinance No. 129.

For the last several months, the Westland City Council and the Zoning Board of Appeals have been meeting to review the current ordinance and to make recommendations for change so as to keep up with the ever changing requirements of our city.

Protest P.A. 114 through the post

EDITOR — The time has come for the citizens of Western Wayne County to make our voices heard in Lansing.

As I look at our property tax increases for 1981 I wonder if the lawmakers in Lansing can hear our cry for property tax reform. The state law we have been hearing so much about, Public Act 114, implements a system of property tax equalization by classification.

It in fact raises property tax for residential property and lowers industrial property taxes.

If you wish to cut the increase in your property taxes to the lower amount take a few minutes to write your state lawmaker and express your feeling on property tax.

In the House of Representatives a bill is in committee that would repeal P.A. 114. It is House Bill 4044 and it delays the implementation of equalization by classification and the accompanying tax increase until 1983.

This delay will hopefully give our legislature time to enact a total property tax reform package.

I encourage each and every property owner in Western Wayne County to write our State Representative and State Senators and ask them to repeal P.A. 114 and support H.B. 4044.

Also write the Chairman of the House taxation and Senate Finance Committees and let them know how you feel about property tax reform.

Until we the citizens stand up with a united voice and send a clear message to Lansing we will not get tax reform in Michigan. Spend a dollar on stamps today and save hundreds in taxes tomorrow.

What do we pay teachers for?

EDITOR — Woe is the poor child who does not have a brother, sister or a parent who has the time to help younger siblings at home to make Valentine boxes.

In a recent letter sent home with my son, we were asked to make Valentine boxes at home. In addition we were requested to spend at least a half hour daily with our child doing multiplication facts. The ultimate insult was in the last sentence, when we were told that we should not introduce division yet, but that they would inform us when to do so.

You mean to tell us, that they cannot have the children make them during art for a project, or have a designated time before Valentines, for the children as a group to make them?

What are we employing teachers and paying for materials?

It's been hard enough to teach our son the 3 R's here at home, and now we are asked to make art projects!

If you are not aware there are many many families with both working. Why? Because our society has made it impossible to just buy food let alone pay these exorbitant school taxes.

I feel the school work I must help my son with at home is getting too excessive.

As a taxpayer am fed up with the so called quality of education my children are receiving here in Westland.

I have been saving articles seen in the Westland Eagle, concerning the distrust of education, here in Wayne-Westland and know that I am not the only outraged parent.

I for too long was a staunch supporter of all the schools my children attended. Now the blinders have come off and I won't let your greed and laziness (call it whatever you like) be a sacrifice to my children's education.

In regards to the final paragraph about teaching our children the multiplication and division facts, and the proper time when to do so. Since when have we become the educators and have assumed the responsibility of instructing them at home?

This whole situation leads me to believe that the taxpayers voted down the last school millage and that we are already on half days.

Martin Street needs paving

EDITOR — A couple of weeks ago you had pictures of the homes for abused children in Westland on the front page.

They were very nice but why didn't you also take pictures of the so called Martin Street. You could have taken pictures of the standing water in my mother's driveway or last year of the holes and six inch ruts.

We have confronted the city but to no avail. All we get is the run around.

The road was put in twenty-five years ago by my dad (at his own expense). The city then comes in and tears up a perfectly good road only to raise it twelve inches above the grade and then say, some day it's going to get paved but until then sorry.

If I were on the road commission, I would be ashamed to admit that Martin Street was done by Westland. In twenty-five years they never graded or did any kind of upkeep on the road. I thank God now they never did or the mess would have been there for the last twenty-five years instead of only the last two.

Custodian decries waste at schools

EDITOR — Your newspaper missed a story recently when 350 angry citizens packed Hoover gymnasium to listen and hear State Rep. Tom Brown and various other members of government meekly attempt to explain how they could do nothing to stop the new 32 percent tax increases slated for 1981 under the newly enacted 114.

The Wayne-Westland voters have always supported a high millage, the very highest tax rate in the state — so now we are being rewarded with this big increase, over $400 on the average home!

Even though our school enrollment is down 29 percent and we have closed several schools and had the good fortune to sell them for millions of dollars — (Cady Corners and Jackson School), we still get hit more and more. Why aren't 29 percent of the teachers laid off or given pay reductions for openers?

As a custodial employee I cannot sign my name — but unless you work at one of our schools you wouldn't believe the waste and lack of work that goes on.

There are so many days off, half-days, and endless coffee breaks, it is no wonder semi-literate are being graduated today.

We will all vote for the next Tisch, but in the meantime "thank you Mr. Fred Warmbier," for keeping an eye on what the Superintendent of the Board and his colleagues are doing.

We appreciate civic groups

EDITOR — I would like to express to the entire community how lucky you are to have the civic groups such as the Lions, Civitans, Kiwanis, Jaycees, Jaycettes, Wayne-Westland Board of Education and Figure Skating Booster Club get involved in your city festivities.

The City of Wayne Recreation Department held its 7th Annual Winter Festival over January 30, 31st and February 1st weekend.

The successful weekend was due to these organizational groups who enjoy getting involved in their community.

I would like to also express special thanks to Dick Clark and Terry Jobbitt who made themselves available during the Broomball festivities, and to Sue McDonald who made our community aware of this weekend with coverage she wrote in the Wayne Eagle.

I think the community should be proud of their civic groups and civic minded individuals who get involved in your city.

Gong Show is a success

EDITOR — I would just like to take this time to say thank you to several people who helped make our fund raiser Gong Show such a success.

Our host for the evening, Wally Mann and wife, Bea, did a super job. All the Gong Show acts were great that he provided us with. I'd like to thank the Power Source Band who did an excellent job of entertaining us for the evening.

Shar on Marie also did a super job of providing music for the evening. I'd also like to thank the people at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wayne for all their help and the room.

We'd also like to thank the community for their support of this event which will enable us to help support Special Olympics, Tri City Therapeutic, and our various other service projects of the year. One more big thank you goes to this fine newspaper for its coverage of the event and Sue McDonald.

Freedom proved the victor

The long ordeal is over. The hostages are free. We payed the supreme sacrifice in the name of liberty.

The Blue Light Mission failed. In the desert laid our dead. Their names are part of history Forever to be read.

We tried to keep world peace Till the very last resort. In every effort short of war To bring them back to port.

Our sacrifice was high. We compromised demand. While always keeping freedom In the highest of command.

The Hostages are free. They'll soon be on our shore. Freedom proved the victor In alternative for war.

We'll go to great extremes So that every man is free. There is no greater loss Than the loss of liberty.

What are my taxes used for?

EDITOR — After reading the guest editorial written by Fred Warmbier, a Wayne-Westland school district trustee, I wanted to express my opinion.

After receiving my education from the Wayne-Westland schools, I knew it wasn't perfect. But a couple of years after I married, when plans for starting a family began, one thing, I definitely insisted on. My children would go to W-W schools, a system not perfect, but one I thought to be the best around.

So, my house now lies within W-W school boundaries. And even than my child isn't old enough to enter school, my taxes are there.

But I'm starting to question just what they are there for.

When I see family and friends fighting up the purse strings, being layed off, taking cuts in salary, and making other concessions in order to hold on to what they've got, I also question what my taxes are being used for.

When Tim Dyer, superintendent of schools, starts tossing around unclear and incomplete package deals and the majority of the school board votes to pass it, we all should wonder.

Just who are these trustees representing, our children? Or the administrators' pocket book?

When restrictions are put on school programs, supplies, maintenance, and the like, I think the school board had better take a closer look at why they're there.

To say they acted in haste is surely an understatement, if this is an example of their decision making.

When the children of this school system are the ones getting the short end of the stick, we had better evaluate our priorities in this district.

And as for you, Fred Warmbier, my vote has been supporting you for years, and it shall continue.

For I'm one of those who do agree with you, and certainly think you're on the right track.

Fiscal restraint and responsibility is something the school board and administrators should be practicing to the fullest.

Thank-you for a no vote!

EDITOR — On January 29, 1981 your papers ran an excellent story, by Jim Bradley, of the "Officer Ollie" school safety program being offered by the Wayne County Sheriff's Patrol and Investigation Division.

Since the story appeared, interest in the program has grown tremendously, and we are attempting to meet the needs of those requesting it.

Mr. Bradley did a masterful job of not only describing the program, but of depicting the two officers involved as people who are not really any different from anyone else, rather than anonymous uniformed men.

Jury duty packs surprise twists

By GAIL JORGENSEN
Special to Playtime

"Never again," I had sworn, after serving on a jury three years ago. I had served on a seven-week extortion trial at the Federal Court downtown. After 12 hours of deliberation, we found the defendant guilty.

Night was falling and the huge building was deserted except for our courtroom, where the defendant and the attorneys waited in silence.

Our foreman's "Guilty!" echoed through the chamber; we all had spoken. We had decided a man's fate. "Never again," I vowed. "Never again."

Would you believe I voluntarily signed up for jury duty at the Plymouth Courthouse last weekend?

I attended the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of the courtroom drama, "Night of January Sixteenth." It was staged right in a real courtroom in Plymouth City Hall.

An interesting concept of this play is that 12 people are selected from the audience at the start of each performance to serve as the jury for the trial enacted. The verdict passed determines which of two different endings the play will have.

Anyone wanting to participate puts his name in a box on entering, and 12 names are drawn at random. Admittedly the play directors knew I was here to review the performance, so they may have been guilty of a little jury tampering.

We got to sit in the genuine jury box and take our intermissions in a jury room with a "Policeman" watching the door. Contributing to the atmosphere on stage are a bailiff and a court recorder, and each witness gets sworn in by the clerk.

But no actual trial was ever so full of surprise twists, and revealing them would spoil the fun.

"Night of January Sixteenth" depicts a murder trial, of course. And of course the defendant is a glamorous young woman. Karen Andre is accused of killing a notorious (of course) financial "manipulator," who had been her employer and (of course) her lover as well.

The play was written by Ayn Rand, best known for her widely-read novels, "The Fountainhead" and "Atlas Shrugged." "Night" does not display any of the didacticism and anti-social-commentary characteristic of those books, however. It's suspense, sheer and simple, fast moving and fun and far fetched.

(Getting into the spirit, one man in the jury room quipped that he ought to confess to the murder himself. "And maybe she (indicating another juror) could be Karen Andre's illegitimate sister.")

Naturally we on the jury enjoyed an extra dimension to the show, but the rest of the audience was audibly absorbed in it also.

Linda Pavey as Karen Andre was frosty and frantic, violent and vulnerable by turns and turn of events, well demonstrating the defendant's mixed motives. The attorneys, particularly Dick Merrill for the prosecution, kept the action running smoothly.

Of the parade of "character-witnesses," Maggie Hineman stole the show as housekeeper Magda Svenson. She hobbled heavily to the stand where she sat with legs apart and exhorted against "the sinners."

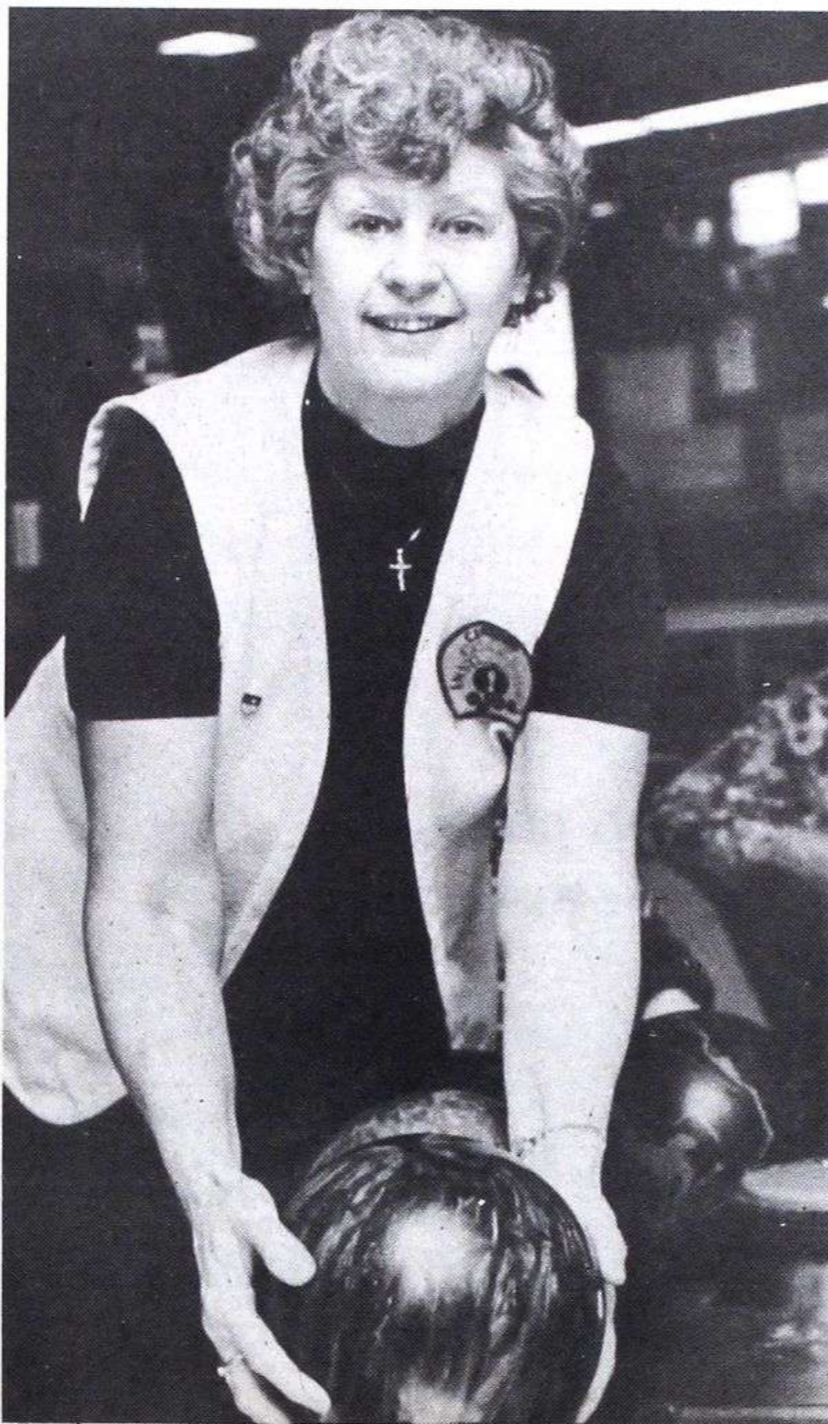

Donald Starr's deep voice and elegant bearing made him a perfect bank director John Whitfield. And Karen Wendt brought us a hilarious, though stereotyped, gum chewing dancer from the Bronx.

"Night of January Sixteenth" will be running for two more weekends — Fri. and Sat. (Feb. 13 and 14) at 8 p.m. and Sun. (Feb. 15) at 7 p.m.; and Fri. and Sat. (Feb. 20 and 21) at 8 p.m. Space in the courtroom is limited, so call 420-2161 or 261-2875 for ticket information soon.

LEISURE LIFE

Super Bowlers are well coached

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

"I'm a coach, secretary, instructor ... but NOT a babysitter," emphasized Katherine Seres, laughing yet serious about her duties as director of Canton's Youth Super Bowlers.

Each Saturday morning from September through April, Mrs. Seres can be found supervising the efforts of some 128 bowlers between the ages of five and 18 at the Super Bowl in Canton. League averages range from 21 to 166 among 32 teams in four age divisions — Pee Wee, Bantam, Junior and Senior. Quite an undertaking for one lady? Yes, but also rewarding.

"I get quite excited watching someone do well," Mrs. Seres explained. "Last week, for instance, one of our 11-year-old girls (Chris Winters) rolled a 320 series and a 201 game. Seeing that is a reward in itself."

"And at the end of the year kids will come up to me and say how much they enjoyed bowling," she added. "When I hear that I want to come back the next year for another season."

An avid bowler, Mrs. Seres carries a 165 average in two leagues and has been a certified bowling instructor since 1964. Previously she handled a youth league in Ann Arbor for five years, an experience which prompted her to get involved with the Super Bowlers, a program sponsored by the Canton Parks and Recreation Department.

"We teach the kids courtesy, sportsmanship, how to keep score and a little bit about the game," said Mrs. Seres, who served as tournament director for the State Junior Bowling Championship in 1969 (team event). "I love working with children. So far, knock on wood, we haven't had a bit of trouble."

"This league is a family outing," she continued. "Many parents and even grandparents come out to help keep score or just watch the youngsters bowl. They really seem to 'enjoy' themselves. Two families bring their teen-agers all the way from Belleville to participate."

Since taking over the junior bowling program in the fall of 1979, Mrs. Seres has promoted a number of activities designed to add to the fun. Parties, holiday doubles competition and a year-end banquet keep the spirits high throughout the season.

"It's something to see the smiles on children's faces when they get a strike. Especially when you could swear the ball is headed into the gutter..."

Coming up is one of the program's more popular events, bowling against the coach. Youth bowlers strive to beat Mrs. Seres in a three-game series with all winners receiving an "I Beat My Coach" patch.

"Last year I gave out 44 patches," laughed the director, whose high series in 18 years on the lanes is a 620.

Mrs. Seres and her husband, Joseph, reside in Belleville and are the parents of four sons ("they're all bowlers," she's quick to point out).

"It's something to see the smiles on children's faces when they get a strike," Mrs. Seres exclaimed. "Especially when you could swear the ball is headed into the gutter and it develops a curve right into the pocket. And then there are the times when a boy or girl will pick up an unusual or difficult split..."

Obviously, Saturday mornings are special for this veteran bowling organizer. And her dedication makes the time special for plenty of bowlers and their families.

But after all, who would you expect to direct the Super Bowlers at the Super Bowl? A Super Coach, right?

'Fort Apache, The Bronx' is not racist film

'Fort Apache, The Bronx,' from Twentieth Century-Fox. Written by Heywood Gould. Directed by Daniel Petrie. Starring Paul Newman, Ed Asner and Ken Wahl. Rated 'R.'

By STEVE K. WALZ
Special to Playtime

Recently there were numerous demonstrations in the New York metro area by various Hispanic organizations who claimed that Paul Newman's latest vehicle, "Fort Apache, The Bronx," was "racist."

"Fort Apache" is the nickname of a harrowed police station in a heavily decimated portion of the South Bronx, home to many of New York's low-income Hispanic population. It is also a high-crime area. And so the film opens with two rookie officers being gunned down in cold blood.

The story then zeroes in on Officers Murphy (Paul Newman) and Corelli (Ken Wahl), with the former being a seasoned veteran who actually feels sorry for the local community blight. Corelli, a brash, young cop, has an almost paternal respect for his partner.

As the investigation into the killings hits a dead end, the precinct's captain is replaced with a hard-nosed veteran named Connolly (Ed Asner) who will stop at nothing in order to get his hands on the cop killers.

Murphy's crime-fighting techniques are dealt a double-blow when Connolly wages open warfare with the community, and then sees one of his comrades brutally murder a young Hispanic for no reason at all. Connolly becomes more enraged when he learns of this senseless vigilante killing and perceives that Murphy knows who the rotten apple is.

But Murphy refuses to "fink" on his fellow officer, even though his conscience tells him he must tell the truth or forfeit his dignity. Corelli backs his partner up but is unwilling to push him to make a confession.

Murphy is further confused by his lovely Hispanic girlfriend (Rachel Ticotin), a nurse at a local hospital, who also refuses to be drawn into this dilemma.

Does Murphy turn the bad cop in? Can he make Connolly tone down his combative ways in dealing with the community? That's for you to find out.

But I will tell you this, "Fort Apache" is not a racist movie at all! The script could have been a bit more suspenseful, and in one or two cases, a little less exaggerated. Yet it is hard to call that part of the Bronx anything less than a jungle. I've experienced its unwarranted hostility on several occasions.

Newman, as usual, is able to inject integrity into his character, while Wahl reminds one of John Travolta with a bit more acting ability. Asner's rock-hard portrayal of Connolly is almost a recreation of his "Lou Grant" character, which is not a healthy professional situation for him.

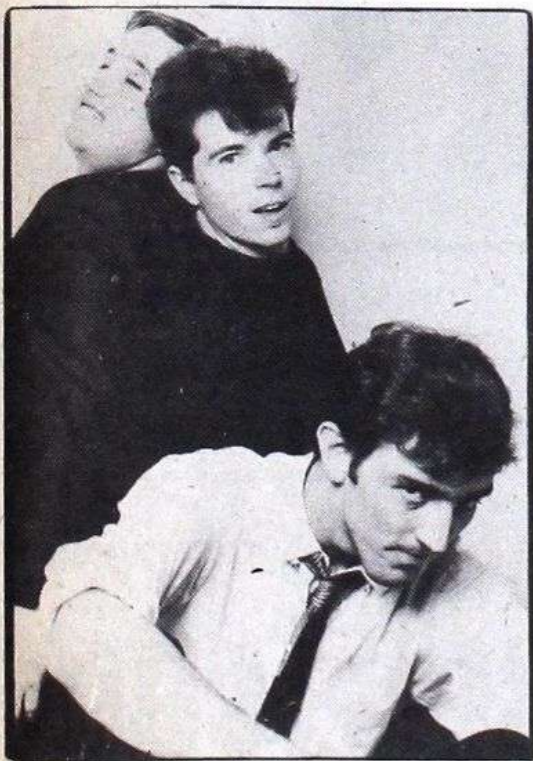

Rachel Ticotin is extremely sharp as Newman's girlfriend and one would hope that Hollywood will be able to find more roles for this Hispanic revelation.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

You'll enjoy Dirty Looks' truly unique three-piece sound

While Marco of Dirty Looks hides behind Patrick, Peter answers the question, "So tell me, how did the group get its name?"

What has a hotel rooming list big enough for five baseball teams, brings joy to thousands, and plays together every night?

The answer is, of course, a Stiff Records' promotional tour. The most recent one — dubbed the Son Of Stiff Tour — carried five bands into Detroit for an evening of fun, music, and madness — and that's just what it was.

Each band takes turns opening, closing, etc., so ego problems of that sort are non-existent. As a matter of fact, with five bands traveling together, living together and playing together, you'd think they'd be at each other's throats, right? Well, it's more like an ongoing party, with each member of each band lending support to the others.

Despite a valiant effort by Joe ("King") Carrasco and The Crowns, in my book top honors went to a three-piece band out of New York known as Dirty Looks. By the way, this is an article on Dirty Looks.

When most people see and hear Dirty Looks perform, almost inevitably they refrain: "They sound so good! I can't believe they're only a three-piece!"

But that's exactly what Dirty Looks is; a three-piece band that packs the punch of a five-piece, all without missing a beat. Led by guitarist-vocalist Patrick Barnes, the unique sound of the band is due mainly to his playing (nifty harmonics abound) and also to his superb songwriting.

Marco Sin, the rather rotund bassist (he recently told a British rock magazine that he was "the fat kid who could never climb trees"), wields his bass in a deadly fashion, spitting out accompaniment for Peter "Spiderman" Parker's powerful drumming.

Together as a band for less than two years, Dirty Looks is already working on their second album, while their self-titled debut stands as one of the best records of 1980. Titles like "You're Too Old," "Accept Me," "12 O'Clock High," and their set-stopper, "Drop That Tan" are only a few of the top-notch songs it includes.

And lest you haphazardly dismiss them with an "Oh, they're new wave," be informed that if any label must be stuck on them, then it's their own, because Dirty Looks is one of the truly unique bands around, and one that's definitely worth hearing. For maybe the first time in your life, you'll enjoy getting Dirty Looks...

Dirty Looks performs in person at Bookies Club 870, where they'll be appearing this Friday and Saturday night. For more information, call 862-0877.

'Goodness gracious'

Jerry Lee Lewis' spontaneous style continues to please his fans

By JOHN SPELICH
Special to Playtime

"Goodness gracious great balls o' fire" did the Second Chance ever rock when the "Killer" himself, Jerry Lee Lewis, took the stage for two shows on Monday night, compliments of Prism Productions' Tidal Wave Series.

Lewis, although slightly more sedate than the "human whirlwind" who used to terrorize the ivories, proved to the Ann Arbor audience that he still has the magic that has sustained him over his long and successful career.

Stylishly dressed in a black tuxedo and shiny black dress boots complete with designer stitching, the "good ol' boy" from Ferriday, La. put on a quality performance adequately mixing his old rockers and newer country hits.

Strongly supported by his group The Memphis Beats (Ken Lovelace and Joel Schumaker on guitars, Ron Norwood on drums and Randy Wilks on bass), Lewis also featured some interesting interpretations of other artists' works such as "Over the Rainbow" and "Johnny B. Goode."

The key to Lewis' renewed successes is his diversity of styles. Throughout his career his ability to adapt allowed him to flourish while his contemporaries went under.

The audience, somewhat diminished due to a late afternoon snowfall, was very receptive to Lewis and he responded in kind, signing autographs between songs, taking requests and bantering with the front row fans.

His performance was refreshing because he appeared to go a little bit farther to entertain his audience. Judging by his actions he still loves his work, and still loves pleasing his fans. Although he still hurls his bench across the stage and plays the piano with various parts of his anatomy, trade mark moves they might be, Lewis does not appear bored or staged.

Even if he has done it a thousand times, everything still looks as spontaneous as it probably did 25 years ago, a quality many of his contemporaries lack.

The key to Lewis' renewed successes is his diversity of styles. Throughout his career his ability to adapt allowed him to flourish while his contemporaries went under.

In the mid 50s he skyrocketed to stardom as the wild man who ripped up his equipment. Sadly in 1958 his career suffered somewhat due to unfavorable publicity generated by his marriage to his 13-year-old cousin.

In 1965 he scored with two albums that gained much attention from country music fans. Seeing the opportunity, Lewis rose to even greater stardom as a country artist.

Throughout the 70s his appeal to Rock and Roll and Country fans has made him a popular draw at many different places such as state fairs, Las Vegas hotels, college campuses and clubs.

Ann Arbor was the last stop on a five city mini tour that includes appearances at the Ritz in New York City and a spot on the Tomorrow show.

For those of you who missed the Ann Arbor performances, Lewis will be back in town at DBs, the Hyatt Regency Dearborn, February 23-28. For reservations and information for the Lewis show with comedian Kip Addotta (through Feb. 14), call 593-1234.

Soccer registrations planned in Van Buren

More teams to enter Great Lakes Soccer competition, more playing fields for area boys, girls and adults and an intramural program to introduce 5 and 6 year olds to the game of soccer.

These are some of the aims of the newly formed Van Buren-Belleville Soccer Club. The club, some 50 strong, a parent and friends support group, is organized by the Van Buren Township Parks and Recreation Department.

Soccer has been played in Van Buren for the past three years. Last year, Van Buren fielded four teams. This year, community interest in soccer was so great that the program had to be expanded. The club is looking for coaches, officials and interested adults. Adults and soccer players should also plan on registering.

Registration will be held at Van Buren Township Hall, 46425 Tyler Road, February 12 and 13 from 6-9 p.m. and Saturday, February 14, from 1-3 p.m. Registration fee is $15. The season will run from April 25 to June 15, with practice beginning in early April. For more information, call Van Buren Township's Parks and Recreation office at 699-2001.

A soccer referee's clinic will begin Feb. 11 from 7-9 p.m. at the township hall. Registration fee for the seven classes is $15.

Belleville retains WW swim crown

McClelland dominates diving competition

Although they had only two individual winners, defending champ Belleville had little trouble retaining its share of the prestigious Western Wayne Swimming & Diving championship.

Backed by a record-shattering diving performance by their All-American candidate, Pat McClelland, and getting a first place from Mark Schofield in the 100-yard breaststroke, Belleville had the depth to amass 251 points and win the WW title at Cherry Hill.

In the meantime, Plymouth Salem and Wayne Memorial went right down to the wire before Salem captured its first WW title (B Division) at Wayne High. Salem's 400-yard freestyle relay nosed out Wayne by two-tenths of a second in that final event to seal the victory.

Belleville has dominated the WW over the past decade and the Tiger divers also have ruled the boards. The Tigers beat out Livonia Stevenson for top honors and Cherry Hill, considered the premier challenger was third, followed by Westland John Glenn, Plymouth Canton and Garden City East.

"We're very happy about the victory," said Belleville's rookie coach Rick Cagle. "We're beginning to develop some depth needed to compete in the tough Suburban B Conference. I feel we're getting there."

Belleville diving coach Frank Musser was exceptionally pleased by McClelland's performance. "He's just a tremendous performer and we feel he has the qualifications for All-American recognition."

McClelland follows in the footsteps of Belleville's great divers, Barry Susterka and Orlo Liebler, who were among the state's top prep performers.

McClelland piled up 475.90 points to pick up his gold medal, and he became the first Tiger diver since Liebler to retain the crown three consecutive years.

Schofield and Cherry Hill's Curt McNamara battled it out in the breaststroke with the Tiger swimmer winning in a "photo finish". The winner posted a 1:05.0 McNamara's time was 1:05.4. McNamara, however, earlier won the 200-yard individual medley, beating his arch rival, Schofield, to the finish.

Westland John Glenn's outstanding talent, Greg Dawkins, added two more gold medals to his ever-increasing display case. Dawkins covered the 200-yard freestyle in 1:49.8, easily beating back an impressive field which included Cherry Hill's Martin Powers and Belleville's Dave Dubisky, who finished second and third, respectively.

Dawkins and Powers staged another duel for the gold in the 500-yard freestyle. The Westland junior was given the edge, although both swimmers were clocked in 4:59.7.

Plymouth Canton was the only other area team to strike gold. The Chiefs did it with their 200-yard medley relay made up of Ron Hurler, Jim Luse, Pete Stearn and Bob Simerak who were clocked in 1:48.3. They beat Belleville's Jim Ryzner, Schofield, Dave Carlson and Jeff Sterling to the wire.

A tough decision

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

Michigan, Michigan State, Ohio State.

Three universities that have been at one time or other atop of the collegiate football world.

And these three schools are actively soliciting the services of Rich Rogers, one of the top prep grid talents in the country. Rogers, Wayne Memorial's contribution to the all-state ranks, has narrowed his choices down to the three Big 10 Conference teams, according to Coach Floyd Carter.

And with the February 18 deadline to sign his national letter of intent nearing, Rogers is being bombarded from all sides to reveal the college he'll be playing for next fall.

The 6-2, 200-pound Rogers has set all sorts of records in his three years with Carter's Zebras. Rick scored 23 touchdowns last season and four of those came in one game. He rushed for 1,352 yards in 184 carries and this muscular back can cover 40 yards in 4.6. He was also kept busy on defense where he was credited with 65 solo tackles.

Is it no wonder that almost every major college in the country wanted to sign him?

"There obviously has been a lot of pressure on him," said Coach Carter, "but I feel that Rick has handled it quite well. I don't know what our basketball coach would say about all of this, but I don't think this (recruiting attempt) has changed this kid at all."

Rogers finds time during the "off season" to help Coach Steve Schwartz' cagers win basketball games. But Schwartz is the first to admit that he would like "all of this to end, so that we can get down to the business of playing basketball."

"It has to take something out of a kid to have to make up his mind on such a vital question as this," Schwartz added. "It's a big decision and when you look at the three teams, or schools, he's narrowed it down to, it's understandable that whatever his decision, he'll be a winner."

I personally would like to see the expression on the faces of the scouts who FAIL to sign Rogers.

In another rewarding bit of sports news, George Gillies of Westland recently received the Michigan Recreation and Parks Association's highest award given to an individual not professionally employed in recreation.

I've known George around these parts for 10 or 15 years and the hard-working Umpire-in-Chief deserves every honor in the book for elevating the craft of arbiters.

George received the honor from the 2,000-member MRPA at their annual awards ceremonies at the Detroit Plaza Hotel. A class place to receive the award—and a class guy who received the accolades.

"Tom, I'm very honored to receive this award," "Gov. William Milliken received this award in 1972, which makes it just super for me."

GEORGE GILLIES

George is Umpire-in-Chief of the Metro Detroit Amateur Softball Association—but he is better known as "Chief" of the MDASA ump.

His hard work and enthusiasm began to really pay off around 1976 when the merger of the American Softball Association and Michigan Recreation and Park Association took on a full head of steam in the Metro Detroit area.

Up until that time, there was no real effort to provide specialized programs and training for umpires on a regional basis. George stepped in as Umpire-in-Chief and immediately went to work to communicate the benefits of being an ASA registered umpire.

George established the first of many MDASA umpire clinics in 1977 and

Wayne wrestlers 2nd best in loop

Although they got off to a slow start this year, Wayne Memorial looked anything but slow on Saturday as Coach Don Haney's wrestlers finished second at the Great Lakes 8 Conference championships.

"At the beginning of the year we had some holes in the line-up," Haney pointed out after his Zebras claimed six of 13 gold medals. "It made me feel real good to have a full line-up for the tournament."

"Also, I felt that this tournament was within our reach, but the lack of experience hurt us. Winning that many weight classes shows that we've made some tremendous strides since the beginning of the year."

Fordson and Monroe were deadlocked in first place after the regular season, but when Wayne finished second at the tournament championships, it gave Monroe the league title outright. The Dearbornites will have to settle for third place.

Among those who captured gold medals from Wayne are: Paul Justice (105), Dan Matauch (112), Ron Pittman (132), Jim Daniel (138), Joe Sample (145) and Daryl Brooks (185).

Tune-up for Wayne rematch

Rockets back on target

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

John Glenn enjoyed a good time last week, soundly drubbing two Farmington basketball teams before getting ready for Wayne Memorial and Livonia Franklin this week.

The Rockets rapped Farmington 65-45 on Tuesday of last week in a non-league tussle before traveling to North Farmington and emptying the bench in a 60-51 victory in Northwest Suburban League play.

The double win raised the Rockets' record to 11-4 over-all and 4-3 in the conference. But things won't be as easy this week. Coach Dan Henry's charges were scheduled to host arch-rival Wayne Memorial Tuesday night before taking on Livonia Franklin in the Patriots' gym in an unusual Thursday night game this week.

"The Wayne Memorial game is the big one," admitted Henry after his team's double feast last week. "They beat us by one point in the Christmas Tournament championship game in a contest we never should have lost. Our boys will be out to prove which is the better team when we meet again."

John Glenn was a slight favorite to win the Christmas Tourney, which was played at Cherry Hill and included Garden City West. But after knocking off Cherry Hill, the Rockets were ambushed by an "up-and-down" Wayne Memorial team that hustled its way to the tourney title.

No one would blame the Northwest Suburban Conference wrestling coaches if they banded together and sued Westland John Glenn for violation of the anti-trust laws.

Glenn did it again. For the 14th consecutive time Coach Bob Lusk's grapplers monopolized the conference championship. The Westlanders entered Saturday's league confrontation with a perfect 5-0 dual meet record, picked up five golds, five silvers and two bronzes at the league meet to come away with the first place trophy again.

"I'm very happy with the victory," said the veteran Lusk. "But, we can't be complacent. On Saturday we'll be heading for Temperance Bedford and that district traditionally is the toughest in the state."

Glenn garnered 212 team points to knock off its closest rival, Thurston, which had 168. North Farmington finished third at the league tournament with 158.

The Westlanders picked up their gold medals thanks to Tom Gibson (98), Mike Parsons (112), Rob Paciocco (138), Greg O'Neil (145), and Steve Alwine (198).

Rockets remain unbeaten

Here are the results of Westland John Glenn's final two dual meets in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

In Over 30 Hockey

Title count-down begins

The 1980-81 Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey season comes down to the last four weeks.

The leaders in both divisions continue their bid for first place, coming out on top in their respective contests. The second place teams in each division also won their games to keep within striking distance of the leaders while both third place teams went down in defeat.

Little Bill's Trophies maintained its lead in the Berrington Division by outskating third place Benny's Pizzeria 3-1. Ken Beal scored twice for the winners, Jerry Bular netted the puck once and assisted Beal with one goal. Dannie Wysocki and Dan Thomas picked up one assist.

Benny's lone goal was scored by Jim Thomas, assisted by Moe Paquette. The loss dropped Benny's down to six points behind Little Bills.

Tastee Freeze kept its hopes alive by skating past Etronic, 6-3. Etronic had a 3-2 lead until the Freezers came out shooting in the third period, scoring four times to take the victory.

Al Puck scored twice for Tastee Freeze. Joe Soukup and Dave Frankling tallied once in addition to two goals. Paul Cramer and Conrad Madaleno scored one goal apiece. Tom DiLaura finished the game with two assists while Jim McClure, Guy Moise, Arnie McClellan, Paul Brisko and Goalie Jim Gibson picked up one assist.

Mary Borycki, Keith Maddaugh and Dennis Darnell did the scoring for Etronic with Larry Monticello, Tony Ianni, Dan Demers and Dave Roberts picking up the assists.

Tastee Freeze remained in second place four points behind Little Bills.

The Jock Shop is still on top of the Bonkowski Division after defeating Jake's Lounge, 3-1. Ron Wojewski netted the puck twice for the Jock Shop with Dave Zielinski accounting for the third goal. Jerry Robertson and Bill Creekmore assisted one goal each.

Jake's only goal of the contest was scored late in the third period by Jake Davidson, assisted by Tom Panackia. The loss dropped Jake's to six points behind the leader.

Karate

With over 200 competitors seeking honors, the Wayne Karate Club managed to pick up five trophies at national competitions held at Edwardsburgh, Indiana.

Debra Ison, who competed in the women's advanced division, placed first, while Dino Charrara, took a second in the blue belt division and James Bondy captured top honors in sparring.

Ruark awarded letter

Tim Ruark, a former All-Area gridder who hails from Westland John Glenn, was awarded a football letter from Brown University.

A sophomore defensive back from Westland, Tim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Reese.

Ruark was Brown's top kick returner this year averaging 13.3 yards for his eight punt returns, including an 81-yard touchdown, and a solid 19.0 average on kick returns.

Ruark also saw a lot of action as a defensive halfback where he totaled 10 tackles, one interception and three pass deflections. The versatile athlete is undecided as yet to what his major will be at this time.

Driving hard

Looking for a corridor to the basket is Belleville's Chris Flum who played a key role in the Tigers' upset victory over Livonia Bentley Friday night. Coach Tom Niemi's cagers put it all together against the Bulldogs who were coming off of a stunning victory over Plymouth Salem. The 67-56 Belleville win, however, may have improved their won-lost record, but did nothing but help League-leading Lincoln Park who now has sole possession of first place in the Suburban 8 Conference.

Sports Meridian

the popular training program expanded to the point in 1980 where his camp concept had 403 umpires attend.

Because of Gilles' efforts, MDASA registered umpers have grown in number from 200 to 570. In 1979 and 1980, MDASA was nationally recognized for its outstanding increases in umpires.

"Some people feel that an umpire does a good job if nobody knows he's around," George says. "That's just not my philosophy."

"Umpires are a part of the game. A good umpire should be a showman—not a showboat, but a showman and is a vital part of every game."

George Gillies loves well-played, well-officiated softball games. That alone motivates him in his seemingly endless efforts to promote the game. Congratulations, George, on a job well done!
